

Second Sky-Diver Killed in Dutchess Fall

By HUGH D. REYNOLDS

A 21-year-old Holley, N. Y., man became Dutchess County's second sky-diving fatality in less than a month when his chute failed to open in a jump Sunday at Stormville Airport.

William J. Patterson was on his first jump and leaped from a height of 2,800 feet.

According to Fishkill State Police, Patterson's static line was improperly attached to the aircraft and followed the sky-diver out of the plane. The police said Patterson did not release his auxiliary chute.

Death was attributed to a fractured skull and various internal injuries.

The death marked the second at Stormville in less than a month. Sunday, June 11, Miss Diedre H. Symington, 21, fell to her death from 2,600 feet in her first attempt at sky-diving. She was a niece of Missouri Senator Stuart Symington and a student at Boston University.

The owner of Stormville Airport, Peter O'Brien, was contacted by The Freeman this morning.

There had been some various reports about the amount of training a person underwent before his first jump. Miss Symington had three hours instruction while Patterson reportedly had five. O'Brien said the main thing taught to the trainees was the pulling of the ripcord on the auxiliary chute.

Simple Operation

"I think this talk about lack of instruction is over-emphasized," O'Brien told The Freeman. "It's a very simple operation. All the person has to do is pull a large 'D' ring. Five pounds of pull will release the chute which is worn on the chest."

O'Brien said the main chute is released by the static line which is attached to the aircraft by the jumpmaster. In this case, Nathaniel Sweet, Sweet also gives pre-jump instructions.

O'Brien said the twin fatalities would not curtail jumping at the airport. He said that there was an hour's pause after the death of Patterson but that 25 persons, many of them novices, jumped after the accident.

The accident was investigated by State Police Lt. S. J. Crodello of Troop K and BCI Investigator M. F. McCauley. Elwood Garlitz of the Federal Aviation Agency was also at the scene.

Matthews Withdraws From Contention

GOP May Name Sterley Chairman Tonight

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

By all indications, former surrogate Judge John B. Sterley will become the new chairman of Ulster County's Republicans, it was reported.

The formality of voting will take place tonight at 8 p. m. at Ulster County Court House, Kingston. Barring any last minute developments, tonight's vote should be a unanimous decision for Sterley who is the chairman of the board and attorney for First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

A vote by acclamation is expected because of the fact that the last remaining block in Sterley's path has been removed. Kingston attorney and delegate to the State Constitutional Convention, S. James Matthews has decided to withdraw his name.

A fight appears to be shaping up, however, for the vice chairmanship, secretary and treasurer of the party and it is possible that tonight's caucus may be a long one.

Matthews' Statement

In a statement released today, Matthews said, "I have asked those Republican committeemen who have favorably considered me as their choice for Republican chairman, not to present my name at tonight's meeting of the Republican Central Committee. My decision not to run is based on my desire not to be a dividing force within the Republican Party at this crucial period of time when a new county legislature must be elected as well as town boards in each of Ulster County's 20 towns, not to mention the city-wide and county offices which must be filled."

Matthews went on to say that "My decision has been more difficult because of the enthusiasm of those who have urged me to run. Many of these committeemen are young and energetic and to disappoint them, the future of our Republican Party, is not easy."

Claimed Enough Votes
The Constitutional Delegate states that, "Those who have sought to encourage me to run for county chairman have assured me that they had sufficient votes to produce my election," but Matthews further said that "I also realize that there would be a sizeable portion of the committeemen who favored John Sterley. Even should I be victorious, I know that I would be faced with a divided party and in effect, the Democrats would be the victors."

The young Kingston attorney said that he hoped "all good Republicans can rally around our new county chairman, John Sterley, and get on the job of revitalizing the GOP in Ulster County. I stand ready as always to lend whatever talent I possess to assist in this rebuilding process."

Finding the Right Man

In the electing of a new chairman, the Republicans had to find a man who could heal the wounds that exist in the party as well as being able to lead his organization during the tough campaign that is building up for this fall.

One prominent young Republican said of Sterley that, "He is independently wealthy, so he is immune from political pressure," and the same informant said "he (Sterley) is not looking for anything."

It has also been said that, although Sterley is a "peace-maker" with the party, he, nevertheless, can be firm. Another Republican said that the former judge has a number of people who "look up to him" and that "the party can line up behind him. . . . He knows what the job entails and he can do an effective job."

Sterley's Record

In 1944, Sterley was appointed surrogate to succeed Ulster County Surrogate Harry Flemming, who had resigned from the post. Sterley was elected on his own the following year.

Active in Republican affairs, Sterley has served as Republican city chairman and has been involved in political, banking, and civic affairs in Kingston and in Ulster County.

Sterley had served as president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Kingston before being made chairman of the board of the organization.

He has been a member of the Republican County Committee for approximately 23 years and he is presently treasurer of the committee.

The Wilson Leadership

It was considered difficult to find a man to fill the shoes of Kenneth L. Wilson.

The Woodstock assemblyman served in the post of county chairman since 1957 and although some Republicans have claimed there was a "lack of leadership" on his part, the fact is that, from the standpoint of election wins, Wilson's record is virtually spotless. The only elected Democrat in the entire county is Sheriff William B. Martin.

He has been called a "boss" by some Democrats and the leader of the "Woodstock gang" by Democratic Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

Republicans feel this means that Wilson was looked upon as the center of Republican power in the county and there can be no doubt that his influence was something close to absolute—a tribute to his leadership ability.

Whether Sterley can fill the post as effectively as his predecessor is unknown to GOPers at this time, but it is believed many of the young men in the party who were hopeful of gaining the reins of party power, with the possible exception of Matthews, would have had to spend some time learning the nature of the office before ever hoping to guide the organization with any fair amount of success.

One Republican attorney had it that, "If anyone had got in there who had not been close to Wilson, he would have been hit not only a divided party, but an organization that could not work effectively against the Democrats in the fall."

Boy Injured Here in Bike-Car Crash Among 8 Hurt During Weekend

Traffic accidents in the area over the weekend resulted in injuries suffered by eight persons, and extensive property damage to the cars involved. A Kingston boy was seriously injured when his bicycle was involved in a mishap with an auto.

Kingston State Police are looking for a hit-and-run car that reportedly left the scene after colliding with another vehicle on Route 375.

Two motorists were cited for violations.

Four persons were injured and a motorist was cited for two violations as the result of a head-on collision Sunday on South Road, Town of Cairo.

Trooper E. E. LaPlante of Leeds said the cars were driven by Mary Barber, 39, of Mt. Kisco, and Robert DeCarlo, 27, of Purling.

DeCarlo was cited by Trooper John Zagurski for failure to keep to the right and driving a car while his license was suspended. Injured in the mishap were the Mt. Kisco woman who sustained lacerations of the face and bruises; Francis Tarella, 44, of Ardsley, who received internal injuries; DeCarlo who suffered lacerations of the right arm and a back injury; and Addison Decker, 19, of 17 Mynders Street, Saugerties, who sustained lacerations of the tongue.

Two persons were injured at 5:15 p. m. Sunday when the cars in which they were riding went out of control and hit a tree off Route 296. Town of Jewett, Trooper La Plante said Robert Sturtecky, 20, of Hunter, was driving south on the highway when he turned to speak to a passenger in the rear seat, and the car went out of control.

Sturtecky sustained lacerations of the right arm and forehead. Barbara Higgins, 19, of Saugerties, received lacerations of the forehead and a fractured left arm. Both were treated at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill. Julie Judd, of Hensonville, a passenger, was not injured.

Occupants of two cars escaped injury when the vehicles collided at 9:45 p. m. on Granite Road two miles south of Accord. BCI Investigator Michael Bonney said the cars were operated by Richard S. Stein, 17, of Brooklyn, and Stephen Schwartz, 18, of Kerhonkson.

Stein was driving north and attempting a left turn into a parking lot, and Schwartz was trying to pass at the time the vehicles collided. Stein was charged with turning without proper signal and having insufficient lights on his car.

Rudy Hopkins, of West Hurley, complained to Kingston State Police Sunday night that he was driving north on Route 375 when an unidentified vehicle entered the northbound lane, hit his car and continued on without stopping. Hopkins escaped injury. Troopers are looking for the hit-and-run vehicle.

In Kingston Paul Fontenet, 12, of 37 VanBuren Street, suffered a leg fracture and concussion, police said, in a car-bicycle mishap at 5:35 p. m. Saturday at Franklin and Furnace Streets. He was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

Officers James Scott and William Mulford, who investigated, said the boy on the bicycle turning from Franklin to Furnace Street moved into the path of a car driven by Joseph G. Pinkosz, 31, of RD 4, Box 550, Kingston.

Police said James J. Prendergast of 112 Foxhall Avenue, suffered a hand injury when in turning as someone called to him, flung an arm against a moving car at Broadway and Hoffman Street Sunday. Police said the car was driven by Barry M. Brandt, of Mt. Marion.

McNamara, who flew by helicopter within five miles of a fight between North Vietnamese and U.S. Marines Sunday near the zone, saw the flash of exploding artillery shells and of bombs from U.S. aircraft.

The secretary told newsmen the North Vietnamese, as a result of their diversion to the northern battle front, "can't put as much pressure on the government of Vietnam or the people of Vietnam in that God-for-

Paltz Robbery Attempt Leads to Drug Charges

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Cooperation between state troopers, New Paltz and Woodstock police and a citizen resulted in the arrests Saturday night of three New York City men on charges of attempted first degree robbery after they failed to obtain money from a New Paltz pharmacy clerk.

Authorities also arrested a Woodstock woman and one of the trio involved in the drug store incident on charges of possessing marijuana.

The chain of events started at about 7 p. m. Saturday when three men entered the Bonze & Van Vlack Drugs, Inc., store at 58 Main Street, New Paltz. One of the trio pretended he wanted a prescription filled and handed a note to Florence Briggs, 19, a clerk.

Authorities said the note read, "Do as I say. I don't want to hurt you." The note demanded $50.

Trooper C. W. Zappalo said the young woman laughed at the man and refused to obey the demand for money. The trio left and drove off in a car. An alert citizen noted the registration number of the auto and gave it to village police and state police were called by an owner of the pharmacy who reported the incident.

Alarms were sent out. Later Saturday night the car was spotted parked on a Woodstock street. The occupants were identified as Howard Tannenbaum, 24, New York City, and Rebecca Bracy, 23, of Woodstock.

Troopers said a quantity of marijuana was found in the vehicle and Tannenbaum and the Woodstock woman were charged with possessing marijuana. Arrested later on a street in Woodstock were David West, 28, and Allen Dienitz, 22, both of New York City. Tannenbaum, West and Dienitz were held on charges of first degree attempted robbery. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Milton Houst they were committed to the county jail in lieu of $2,000 bail each. Hearing was adjourned until 5 p. m. today.

The woman and Tannenbaum were taken before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston, on the marijuana counts. The case was adjourned until 7 p. m. today. The woman was released pending disposition of the charges.

Donohue Returns To Duty

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—John H. Donohue returns to duty today as a state trooper after a successful three-year court fight for reinstatement.

Donohue, who has been assigned to Oneida, was fired in 1964 after a departmental hearing on a charge that he had failed to obey the order of a superior officer. The Court of Appeals ruled May 31 that dismissal was an excessive penalty.

The former trooper's most recent court battle ended in defeat, however. He claimed in a $1.5-million suit against the state that he had been unlawfully detained by troopers and a superior officer as a result of his court fight against State Police promotion policies.

The argument was rejected by Judge Paul C. Reuss of the Court of Claims in a decision made public Saturday. Reuss noted that Donohue was then a trooper under the command of a troop commander in a semi-military organization. Any questioning, therefore, would have been routine, he said.

The judge also accepted the testimony of a State Police stenographer and several troopers that Donohue was not — as he had testified — held behind a barred door and denied use of a telephone to call his lawyers.

Donohue, in battling the State Police promotion policies, had contended that a 1961 examination for sergeant was unfair because it relied too heavily on oral material. The courts upheld his argument and ordered State Police Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr. to conduct new examinations.

The Court of Appeals did not issue a formal opinion in granting Donohue's plea for reinstatement and made no mention of back pay during the period between Donohue's firing and return to duty.

Donohue, of Peekskill, was named last week as acting president of the State Police local of Council 50 of the New York State, County, and Municipal Employees Union, AFL-CIO.

New Soviet Plane

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union showed off a new swing-wing jet, similar to the U.S. F111, with a claimed speed of 1,800 miles an hour Sunday at the first Soviet air show in six years.

The wings extend for stability at low speeds, then fold back at a sharp angle for supersonic flight. A British-French project to build a similar plane fell through four days ago when the French pulled out. The U.S. F111 is now in mass production, although still shaking out bugs. It is expected to be ready for combat missions in Vietnam within a year.

Ford Fights Tax Bite

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said today he doesn't think President Johnson's request for a tax hike is justified—a view that puts him in some disagreement with two top GOP lieutenants.

Ford said if the bill came up now the House probably would defeat it.

Two other leading House Republicans, Melvin R. Laird and John W. Byrnes, both of Wisconsin, have indicated support for Johnson's proposed income tax hike.

Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, recently said that while he isn't enthusiastic about the proposed hike, he probably would support it. He cited as his reason the administration's "failure to be responsible in the field of fiscal management."

Byrnes, senior Republican on the taxwriting Ways and Means Committee, led the nine other GOP members of the committee in fighting Johnson's request to increase the debt limit by $29 billion. Byrnes contended a tax increase must be considered in efforts to reduce the deficit and to reduce the need for increasing the Treasury's borrowing authority.

Ford said in an interview that Johnson has not made a case for his tax hike request.

"The administration has not made any effort whatsoever to hold down non-defense spending," Ford said. "If the administration would cooperate with the Republican leadership in the House we could reduce nonmilitary expenditures sufficiently to preclude the need for a tax increase."

The Johnson administration, Ford said, wants to continue excessive domestic spending for purely political purposes. This, he said, would stimulate an inflationary increase in the cost of living.

"I believe the people resent a guns and butter policy," the Michigan Republican said, "and resent being forced by the Democrats to pay for butter in higher taxes."

Lurleen Under Knife

HOUSTON, Tex., (AP)—Cancer specialists have confirmed that a tumor which has stricken Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace is malignant.

They prepared for an exploratory operation today to determine the extent of the malignancy and, if possible, to remove the tumor.

The 40-year-old governor was scheduled to go into surgery for an operation expected to last several hours.

Doctors said they hoped to be able to tell what the operation revealed when a medical bulletin is issued at 3 p.m.

The malignancy, first detected three weeks ago by doctors in Montgomery, Ala., was confirmed Sunday by specialists at the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston.

It is Mrs. Wallace's second battle with cancer in 18 months. She underwent surgery in January 1966 for removal of a cancer of the uterus. When she returned to the hospital for a checkup last month, she was found to have cancer again.

Dr. R. Lee Clark, director and chief surgeon at Anderson Hospital, said in a bulletin Sunday that members of his staff "concur with the Alabama physicians that the governor has a malignant condition" again.

Clark said, "there is a tumor in the lower abdomen."

Mrs. Wallace, mother of four children, remained in good spirits. Clark expressed admiration for her "fortitude and forthright approach" to the illness.

While the medical men were concluding their pre-surgical diagnosis, Mrs. Wallace chatted cheerfully with her husband, former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, and their eldest daughter, Mrs. James Parsons. Occasionally the governor walked across the hall to a reception room to read some of the hundreds of letters and telegrams received since her arrival last Tuesday.

Graham Declares Crusade Success

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP)—Billy Graham regards his first crusade to a Communist country as a success although only about 2,000 persons turned out for each of his three meetings in Yugoslavia.

"Whenever the Gospel is preached — to one person, or a thousand or a million — that is a success," said the American evangelist before leaving by train Sunday night for Munich and the United States.

"Just the fact that he was able to come, that he was here with us, was a success in itself," said Dr. Jozip Horak, a Baptist leader who was Graham's host.

Arriving Friday in Zagreb, the tall, tanned American preached Saturday night at a Lutheran church and twice on Sunday, in a morning downpour and at dusk, on the soccer field of a Roman Catholic seminary.

There are only about 200,000 Protestants in this Marxist nation of Orthodox and Roman Catholic tradition whose government now professes atheism.

Yugoslavia's constitution assures religious freedom and the Communist regime gives all religious minimal tolerance but no encouragement.

Graham made clear at a news conference Saturday that he would not go into political issues. Never once did he mention communism or allude to life under a totalitarian regime. He encouraged his listeners, largely farmers and villagers brought by bus from distant points in the countryside, to show their Christianity and be active in their churches. He said that Christ wanted his believers to obey civil authority.

Graham regarded his visit as a test for future trips farther east into Communist Europe. He said he believed in the people-to-people contact idea elaborated by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

"It's in the area of faith in God that we have something in common," he told a newsmen. Graham said he is due Wednesday at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., for a five-day stay for removal of an abscess of the upper jaw.

Negroes Riot In Iowa Community

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP)—Unrest among Negroes in this northeastern Iowa community, simmering for two days, exploded in a wave of violence late Sunday night.

It took 60 city policemen, backed up by a dozen highway patrolmen, about three hours to break up rampaging gangs in the city's predominantly Negro North End business district. Several persons were injured, including five cut by flying glass when passing cars were pelted with rocks. The five, two Negroes and three whites, were treated at a hospital and released.

Three arrests were made. Police said gangs of Negroes, including some women, looted several stores along East Fourth Street. Two parked cars were overturned.

Store display windows were smashed. Firemen answered several alarms to extinguish small blazes set at the height of the disturbance.

Several hundred persons, most of them Negroes, thronged the streets. Police Chief Robert Wright said the hard core of troublemakers numbered about 100, most of them what he called "young hoods."

Police cordoned off an area about four blocks square and moved in to disperse the rock-throwing gangs. The Negroes broke up into smaller and smaller groups, finally drifting home in the early morning hours.

Chief Wright said there had been minor disturbances in the Negro area Friday and Saturday nights, and authorities had been expecting more trouble. Wright said the weekend of violence apparently was touched off with the arrest Friday night of a Negro accused of assaulting a white man.

Dr. Warren Nash, a Negro physician and one of those who tried to stop the disturbance before it got out of hand, said Negro dissatisfaction in Waterloo is caused by "The usual things, housing, employment, right down the line."

Waterloo, which has about 6,000 Negroes in its population of about 75,000, experienced some rock throwing and angry talk last year when a Negro hanged himself in a city jail cell.

Investigations by civil rights groups and state officials absolved some of any blame in the suicide.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 10, 1967

19-YEAR-OLDS' STAY

The authority granted President Johnson to call up 19-year-olds first under the new draft law will not be used, probably for a year. That was the surprise of the four-year military draft extension signed into law by President Johnson. An executive order providing for the call up of 19-year-olds will be a stand-by authority but will not be used right away.

The average age of inductees is running at just over 20 years now. For that reason, the authority to start induction with 19-year-olds need not be invoked. The stay given this age group will be felt by two million who reach that age this year.

Draft critics lost out on eliminating or reducing student deferments, making national standards binding on local draft boards and imposing a lottery-type system of choosing draftees.

Student deferment has even been made softer. Instead of the old class standings and test scores, the new rules defer any student who is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at a college, university or similar institution. He need only earn the required credits toward graduation each year to keep his deferment. His deferment ceases when the student gets his bachelor's degree, quits school or reaches the age of 24, whichever comes first.

Defense figures show that nearly 2 million reach age 19 annually, but that only two out of seven eligible for induction are drafted. After that, and unless there is a national emergency, a man's chances of being called up diminish quickly, as a new crop of 19-year-olds comes along and those who held student deferment take their place in the pool.

STRONGER CIGARETTE WARNING

Dissatisfied with the result of the caution carried on cigarette packs since January 1, 1966, the Federal Trade Commission recommended legislation to Congress for a much stronger warning to smokers.

The old caution says, "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health."

The suggested FTC warning would say, "Warning: Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Health and May Cause Death From Cancer and Other Diseases."

Also, the FTC asked for increased appropriations for public education—especially of the young—about health risks of smoking, and for research to develop less hazardous cigarettes.

The Commission said that advertising expenditures of cigarette makers last year totaled $297.5 million, and reached each of the 18 million Americans in the 13 to 17 age group. Despite the caution, cigarette sales in 1966 increased by 8.7 billion to 539 billion over the previous year and set an all-time record.

We doubt that any warning, no matter how strongly worded, will dissuade youths from smoking. They want to be grown up and this is one of the symbols. Like so many other things, adults must stop smoking if they want to set an example for youth. It has to be made smart to quit. Like prohibition, the more pressure, the more fun it is pay it no heed.

The best hope of reducing the effects of smoking on people is to be found in the commission's request for funds for research to develop less hazardous cigarettes. The industry would do well to support that aim also.

200,000,000 AMERICANS

Unofficially, the United States will pass 200,000,000 in population about mid-October. Figures for the growth since the first of the year show that the population is edging up to this new landmark.

At the beginning of this year, the U.S. population totalled about 198,110,000, including servicemen overseas. By May 1, this had risen to 198,765,000.

The 1966 growth rate is 1.15 per cent, the lowest since 1945. This has already slowed down the expectations for growth in the current decennial.

What has slowed the growth is the drop of 18.6 per cent in the birth rate, the lowest since the end of World War II. The death rate has remained virtually unchanged at about 9.5 per 1,000 and civilian immigration has increased only slightly. The interplay of these factors decides the net growth.

The Census Bureau, which reported these facts, is preparing for the next nose-count three years hence. If present indications continue, the 1970 population is likely not to exceed 208 million, up 29 million from 1960. That would show an increase of only 1 million more than the rise from 1950 to 1960 of 28 million. That is no population explosion.

The Census Bureau rejected pleas for a census of house pets in 1970. While it would be useful to public health agencies and dog and cat food industries, other data takes precedence. We'll just have to make our own pet count as usual.

July is the month of slowdowns on current automobile production preparatory to shutting down all plants for changeovers to 1968 models the end of the month. It is both the best month of the year for trades for new cars and the most expectant for those who must have the latest.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Pitch for Ethnic Vote Seen in U. S. Policy

The consensus President Johnson seems to be looking for in the Israel-Arab post-war dispute involves much that is not our business.

The quick Israeli victory got us off the hook in our policy of being all things to all men, which is at the root of most weaknesses in U.S. foreign policy.

Exaggerated internationalism is a foolhardy and dangerous as narrow isolationism, and we should take the getting off this hook as a blessing.

There are, in the American interest, two sides—and even more—to the Israel-Arab dispute.

The Arabs traditionally consider Ishmael their ancestor; the Jews, Isaac. Ishmael and Isaac never really understood each other but both were sons of Abraham and, ultimately, they did forget their differences long enough to bury their father.

Not all Jews are Zionists and not all Zionists are Jews. Many prominent Jews protest the impression that Zionists speak as the collective voice of American Jewry.

On the other hand, some organizations, such as the American Council for Judaism, seem to hold that Jews throughout the world, regardless of what citizenship they have, owe first allegiance to the nation of their Biblical ancestors. In effect, the Messianic Zionist interprets a dual citizenship for every Jew—one in his country of residence, the other in allegiance to Israel.

The most dynamic Messianic Zionists speak of an ultimate and total "ingathering."

Knowledge of this is deep and decisive in all Arab thought and has been ever since 1948 when Israel increased her territory in the Palestine war by 3,000 square miles more than the United Nations resolution of November 29, 1947, gave her.

The Communists, of course, will get into the Israel-Arab imbroglio on either—or both—sides in accord with the standard Red Policy of fishing in troubled waters. But our gratuitous intervention would merely end as another shambles for the United States.

Yet it is clear that Mr. Johnson is constantly tempted to make his usual pitch for the ethnic vote here at home, thus again violating first principles.

For more than 30 years nothing has been possible within the Democratic party without the backing of organized labor and the Jewish and Negro votes. Today's dilemma pull on President Johnson was thus succinctly (and courageously) summed up by former White House aide Theodore C. Sorensen, speaking to the New York

State Democratic Forum after the last national election:

"The old urban coalition of labor and Negroes and Jews and intellectuals has split into smithereens. The unions can no longer deliver their members; their preachers can no longer deliver the Negroes; and the ward captains can no longer deliver the precincts."

The Jewish population of the U.S. is astonishingly small. The Jewish Statistical Bureau officially gives it as 5.6 million, although this is nearly half the world's entire Jewish population. Nearly half the Jews in America, in turn, live in New York City—almost five times as many as in Los Angeles, the second largest in numbers.

The concentrated political impact is disproportionate to the country as a whole, but (vital) the support President Johnson can get for himself and his policies, including Vietnam, among many of our talking-writing intellectuals, much of the news media and much of the communications industry will depend on his stance regarding Israel.

Like our African policy, which is in a shambles, our Israeli policy reflects Washington's pitch for an ethnic vote in spite of the fact that our foreign policy should never—never—never proceed on the basis of domestic politics here. Violating this principle is one reason that what we do is treated with such suspicion in the world.

Are Overtures in Cold War in Motion?

WASHINGTON—There are growing signs that the new power balance in the Middle East, provisionally raised in Israel's victory over the Communist-backed Arab states of Nasser Egypt and Syria, is to endure in whatever political settlement may unfold.

A period of vast potential peril is passing. The long and short of it is that the Soviet Union seems fairly resigned to the military defeat its Arab satellites have suffered and to the heavy diplomatic and propaganda reverse the Russians and their friends have met in the United Nations General Assembly.

Good news must always be suspect for the cold war record has in it many chapters that turned out to be far less happy for the West than their opening lines had suggested. Still, making all due allowance for prudent skepticism it really does look that the Israelis have reasonably secured the Middle East at last from the long encroachments of a Communist technique of "war of liberation" historically not unlike what is taking place in Vietnam.

Moscow, in the afterglow of the summit meeting between Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Johnson, is demonstrably walking softly. In the inability of the Russians to bring about a condemnation of the Israelis in the U.N. General Assembly, Israel's inherent right to move against looming aggression has now been sealed both by arms and by Western diplomacy in the U.N.

No doubt, the issue will ultimately move into the only real power form of the U.N., the Security Council, but it is already plain that nothing that may occur there will factually alter the new position in the Middle East.

The Russians are making what capital they can of the fact that in the General Assembly their efforts to denounce Israel's action marshaled more votes than those given to the Israeli and Western side. But this is more importantly, the one man who stands above even Kosygin in power in Russia, Leonid Brezhnev, has let the other shoe drop. He has said that the Soviet Union will now pursue a "political struggle" against Israel in aid of Nasser Egypt and Syria.

This implies that any major Soviet military adventurism in the Middle East to overturn Israel's victory has been excluded from Soviet planning. And the possibility of just such an adventurism has, of course, from the beginning been the one capital danger point.

Israel's initial victories, in a word, however brilliant and stirring, formed, after all, only the first inning. The great question always was whether the Soviet Union would enter the game not as a mere supplier of military hardware to the Nasserites but as a direct military force. This, it now seems plain, the Soviet Union does not intend to do.

Put this alongside the fact that Kosygin, after leaving the United States, apparently warned Fidel Castro in Cuba that the Russians would not support him in exporting Castroism into Latin America and it is possible to hope for an overturn in power balances transcending even that in the Middle East. It looks, in short, that the Russians are greatly reducing their backing of "wars of liberation" in more than one hemisphere.

If all this is true, immense overturns in the whole cold war are now in motion. They can only be in motion because of the determined military resistance of the United States to a form of Communist expansionism in Southeast Asia—the Chinese form—which the Russians dislike and deeply fear.

While the Russians would have been happy indeed to see such expansionism succeed in the Middle East, they would actually be agast to see it succeed in Vietnam. For in Vietnam the gainer would be their mortal enemy, Communist China.

Who Can Defeat Johnson? Is Question for Delegates

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Just twelve months from now the Republicans will be holding a national convention to nominate candidates for president and vice president. Everybody expects the Democrats to renominate President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey, but there isn't any consensus yet as to who their opponents will be.

Theoretically, the people do the choosing. In fact, however, under the outmoded and unrepresentative system of selecting delegates to a national convention, the voters have no opportunity to express their will. Actually, the party organizations—city, county and state—which are often controlled by small cliques, exert the dominant influence in picking candidates.

This doesn't mean that public sentiment is ineffectual. For, indeed, the organization leaders want to choose the man they think has the best chance to win in the elections. Discussion in advance of the convention is confined largely to appraisals of the possible appeal that a particular candidate might have on the voters.

The personalities mentioned most often nowadays for the Republican presidential nomination are Governor Romney, former Vice President Nixon, Governor Rockefeller and Governor Reagan. Not one of them could be considered today as having enough support behind him in the Republican party to make sure of a majority of the convention. The real question is how many delegates are likely to switch their allegiance when the balloting gets going.

Thus, for instance, there are many Romney and Reagan votes that could transfer to Nixon, or circumstances might arise in which some leaders who were staunch supporters of Nixon in the 1960 campaign would line up behind Romney or Reagan.

Governor Rockefeller's opportunity could come if a deadlock develops between Nixon and Romney and it is apparent that neither one can get the nomination. The Rockefeller vote, however, would have to get behind a vice-presidential candidate—possibly Governor Reagan—to make the ticket palatable to those Republicans who feel that the New York governor's failure to support Goldwater in 1964 was a kind of political treason which doesn't merit reward. This is less important than to determine whether Rockefeller today has an increased strength with public opinion.

The debate among the delegates will be on this question: Who can defeat President Johnson? Realistically, if the public is in a mood to eject the Democratic Administration from power, it will not make much difference who the Republican nominee is. Conversely, if the country doesn't want to see the Johnson regime ousted, it will not make much difference who is on the Republican ticket.

Again and again in political history an administration in office may not have encountered considerable criticism, but the crucial factor at election time has been whether the nation should "change horses in midstream." The answer in the coming contest depends on the conditions as they will exist in November 1968 and not what they happen to be in July 1967.

If the war in Vietnam hasn't been satisfactorily ended, the American people might not want to see a big shift in government and a period of several months of uncertainty initiated in November 1968 until a new president can become familiar with the exact status and background of problems facing the country. The voters then might swallow their dissatisfaction, and decide to let President Johnson continue to ride his horse across the troubled streams of governmental affairs.

Maybe the people will choose to record an adverse feeling about the Administration's handling of the Vietnam war. Maybe, on the other hand, there will be a peaceful ending and a constructive settlement by November 1968.

But who can accurately forecast the position of the United States of America in world affairs or the conditions in business and employment 16 months hence? Will the country be in the mood to change presidents? Politics has many question marks—and few answers—until Election Day.

Venezuela Has Castro-Inspired Red Terrorists on the Run

By WILLIAM MONTALBANO

Chicago Daily News Service
CARACAS, Venezuela, July 5.—Fidel Castro's supporters are sagging so badly in Venezuela the Cuban Premier just might have to shop around for another name one target for subversion.

Castro-inspired Communist terrorists are on the run in both urban and rural areas, their numbers and enthusiasm flagging.

Where they once posed a serious threat to stability in Venezuela, today they can boast only a nuisance value.

In recent weeks the Communists have suffered one serious reverse after another.

First, early in May, was the by-now famous case of the landing of eight Venezuelan and four Cuban guerrillas on a beach not far from Caracas.

The guerrillas, trained by Castro and en route from Cuba to the El Bachiller Mountains about 90 miles east of Caracas, ran afoul of Venezuelan security forces shortly after landing.

The official government story is that they were surprised on the beach and two Cubans were captured in a firefight in which a third Cuban was killed. The fourth Cuban drowned in the landing and the eight Venezuelans escaped.

What actually happened, apparently, was that three of the Cubans were caught in a security check while riding on a bus following the landing and the dispersal of the guerrillas. (The fourth Cuban did drown.)

Knowledgeable sources say one of the three Cubans was killed by the Army patrol that stopped the bus. The other two were taken into custody and one of them hanged himself in his cell.

The remaining captured guerrilla, a former Cuban Army lieutenant named Manuel Gil Castellanos, is exhibit A in Venezuela's charges of aggression against Cuba before the Organization of American States (OAS).

The Cuban Communist Party has matter-of-factly admitted it helped the guerrillas land and has vowed it will "continue to lend aid to all those who fight against imperialism in whatever part of the world."

Arrest Two More Agents
Even as Venezuela prepared to go before the OAS, two more important Castro agents were arrested—in the unrevolutionary atmosphere of the dining room of a Spanish ship docked at a port near Caracas.

One of the men was Americo Martin, a guerrilla leader publicly backed by Castro. He headed the terrorist movement in El Bachiller.

Both Martin and the sections man, an aide, were carrying Cuban passports when arrested. They apparently boarded the ship in Colombia and planned to go to Cuba via Spain.

between the Hawks, who favor armed subversion, and the Doves, who want to join forces with other opposition parties to form a peaceful "popular front" against the government in presidential elections next year.

Your years ago, Communist terrorism raised serious questions about the success of a Democratic Government in Venezuela.

It is not so much that anyone foresaw a Castro-like Communist takeover. Rather, it was feared the Venezuelan Army would over-react to the Communist threat and seize power, something that would have admirably suited the Communist purpose.

Today, however, elected government is probably on more solid footing than at any time since Romulo Betancourt became president nine years ago.

The Communists have failed completely. "Interior Minister Reinaldo Leandro Mora said in a recent interview.

"There is no part of the land segment of the population they control. They pose no threat to the security of this country."

"The highest estimate is that there are 180 guerrillas in the country today. I don't think it's that high."

Foreign-Trained Pros
Of the total number of guerrillas, it is thought a dozen or so are foreign-trained professional terrorists and the rest disenchanted Venezuelans, mostly former students.

Although there remains a sprinkling of guerrillas in El Bachiller east of Caracas, the main force—possibly 100 men—is located in a mountainous and sparsely populated area to the west. It is here that Douglas Bravo, who has Castro's endorsement as the leader of the Venezuelan Marxist-Leninists, holds forth. Bravo has been formally expelled by the Moscow-line Venezuelan Communist Party.

Bravo is thought to have the single largest band of guerrillas but even they have been inactive in recent months, hemmed in by Security Forces in nightmarish terrain that would give an experienced explorer second thoughts.

And, significantly, Bravo is not in the same class as Fidel Castro. "Douglas is an intellectual lightweight," says a Venezuelan who has known him since childhood. "He is an activist, not a theoretician."

Bravo is 35 years old, the son of a well-off farming family in Falcon State.

As a youth he was expelled from the University of Zulia in Maracaibo where he studied law and economics. The friends say "He has always been a Communist."

In the 50s, Bravo worked as a laborer in a cement factory in Caracas for 2½ years and was later jailed by Dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

By 1962 he had joined the terrorists and within two years was being actively sought by authorities. He is believed to have had some training in Cuba.

Bravo is married and has at least two children. He is reportedly in poor health, and may be suffering from an ulcer.

Authorities say it is only a question of time until they catch up with Bravo, although there have even been recent reports that he has slipped out of the country, possibly headed for Cuba.

U.N. Diplomats Are in Recess

By BETTY FLYNN

Chicago Daily News Service

UNITED NATIONS, July 6—

U.N. delegates will have a week's respite to consider what the next step should be to alleviate Middle East tensions.

Informed sources here fear a renewed outbreak of serious hostilities after the General Assembly's failure to approve a resolution adequate enough to deal with major issues, such as Israeli troop withdrawal.

The Arabs have received no solace for their frustrations, and diplomats here left the U.N. premises last night with little hope for an imminent settlement of the differences between Israel and the Arab nations.

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan appealed to world opinion to overlook the "inconclusive battle of resolutions" that took place earlier this week at the Assembly.

He said the Assembly had allowed member nations to air their views, thus laying down principles and guidelines that may eventually lead to a peaceful settlement.

Pazhwak rules the Assembly should adjourn until Wednesday, July 12, despite the feeling of some delegates that a 48-hour recess would have been sufficient.

Some diplomats believe the week-long recess was called so that Sec. Gen. Thant's report on Israel's reunification of Jerusalem, Due July 11, could be considered before the next Assembly meeting.

Tuesday the Assembly approved a Pakistani-initiated proposal declaring the Jerusalem takeover invalid and calling on Israel to rescind.

Thant met with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban yesterday in exploratory efforts to determine whether Israel would consider complying with the U.N. resolution.

DeGaulle Looks to Hussein To Break Deadlock

By PAUL GHALI
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

PARIS, July 6—President Charles de Gaulle hopes Jordan can help to unfreeze the now stalemated Arab-Israeli relations.

In an official communique issued after yesterday's weekly meeting of the French cabinet, the president singled out Jordan's position as being the most "preoccupying" among all the Arab nations. Jordan, the communique said, cannot exist without the area now occupied by Israel.

A few days ago the French government came out strongly against the annexation of the Jordanian part of Jerusalem by Israel. Tuesday, France, with other Western European countries, voted for the Pakistani motion condemning the measures taken by the Israelis to change the status of the Holy City.

All these spectacular gestures in favor of Jordan are interpreted in Paris as meaning that the French president has chosen Jordan's King Hussein as the Arab leader who can, and perhaps will, agree to negotiate with Israel, thus opening the first breach in the wall of Arab-Israeli relations.

De Gaulle received King Hussein in Paris Tuesday. Their conversation was later described by the king as having been "informative and useful," with the French president giving him "much good advice."

Urged Not to Wait

During the talk de Gaulle reportedly advised Hussein not to wait to long before starting discussions with Israel on the fundamental problems of his country. He also was urged strongly not to subordinate a political settlement to the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab territories.

In logical conclusion, de Gaulle promised France's full diplomatic support to Jordan to help her recover the parts of her territory that Israel has occupied, plus deliveries of war material and substantial economic aid for Arab refugees.

There were, however, strong doubts in French political quarters that Hussein will prove as useful an intermediary between the Arabs and the Israelis as de Gaulle hopes.

Interviewed after his visit with de Gaulle, the king insisted on the need for a common Arab front before any talks could start with Israel—a condition that would make very difficult any unilateral Jordanian action in favor of a negotiated peace.

In good diplomatic style, the French communique that gave strong diplomatic support to Jordan, ended by saying that France did not plan any initiative at this juncture.

The meeting between the king of Jordan and the French president followed two days after the latter's talks with Soviet premier Alexei N. Kosygin. The two men apparently discussed all world problems, including Vietnam and the Middle East situation.

The Soviet premier reportedly took great care to tell de Gaulle that no agreement, secret or not, had been concluded at Glassboro between him and President Johnson, except for a near rapprochement on the nuclear non-dissimulation treaty.

Kosygin also told de Gaulle that he had tried to "moderate" Fidel Castro and head him off staging guerrilla attacks on Latin American countries.

PEORIA HAS A YOUTH CENTER and that's where the kids congregate to sit, talk, plot and sometimes to hate.

'We're Gonna Really Explode'

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
(Third in a Series.)

PEORIA, Ill. (NEA)—There is a squat brick building in the "black belt" of this town called Carver Recreation Center. It's off Sheridan Road, adjacent to a secondhand junkshop, a few doors down from a two-story house that is not a home.

The center was built to give young Negroes a place to gather for fun and fellowship. And they do gather, each evening after dinner, but not really for fun and fellowship.

They cluster outside the building, on the curb, on the stoop, on an automobile hood. They play craps and Acey Ducey. Few of them are complacent. Some have weapons. They smoke, they drink pop, they loiter.

A police car slows. "Bastard cop," a young man mutters.

"What'd you say?" a patrolman calls out.

"Nothing."

"What was it?"

"I said nothing."

The policeman and the Negro stare at one another. Hard. The Negro chews on a safety pin. The cop breathes deeply. The crowd on the curb leans forward. Then, quietly, the patrol car rolls away.

The cop shakes his head.

"It's gonna be a long summer."

Indeed, it may well be. According to virtually every indication in this community, relations between its 14,000 blacks and 120,000 whites are at the snapping stage. Last summer the town experienced a week of civil disobedience and this summer, says a colored tough tough, "We're gonna really blow up."

It's tough talk, to be sure. And it's strange talk, coming as it does, not from the heart of Harlem ghettos, but from the heart of Abe Lincoln country. Moreover, it is talk that the bewildered white community here simply can't understand.

As one citizen says: "We do everything we can for the niggers."

Actually, Peoria is a bit ahead of some cities in human relations. Progress has been made. Mayor Bob Lehnhausen mentions the antipov programs, the Neighborhood Youth Corps, the improved recreational facilities in Negro areas. The YMCA mentions the $18,000 it is spending on summer programs for Negro youngsters. Local industry mentions the job discrimination barriers which have fallen in recent years.

"Last month," adds Mayor Lehnhausen, "Look magazine named Peoria as an All-American city . . . and part of it was because of our advancements in race relations."

Even so, few Negroes are impressed.

"All-American city?" sniffs Negro welfare worker Jim Fishback. "Who says so? I wish that Look magazine would have come down here on Sheridan Road to look around. There ain't no All-American nothing on Sheridan Road. Just poor folks."

Fishback may have a point. Over 30 per cent of Peoria's population earns under $4,000 a year and a good number of them live in Negro areas. Some stay in leaky dwellings which have no window panes. Others are cramped into low-rent apartment projects where, as a resident insists, "We're so crowded that if one guy sweats, everybody gets wet."

And breaking out of the slums is largely a futile dream. Precious few Negroes in Peoria reach positions which enable them to move to the suburbs. And when some few do get the chance, they are greeted with cool neighbors and segregated schools.

"There is kind of a modern-day Paul Revere organization in the suburbs," claims a liberal town official. "Whenever a neighborhood's color line is threatened, a factory worker rides through on a motorbike yelling that the niggers are coming."

Thus the enigma. And it's hardly Peoria's own. Hundreds of other towns in the nation should experience similar racial lawbreaking this June through August. And in each case police will have to be ready for anything from bottle-tossing to murder.

And in most cases the police will be ready.

"Oh, they're prepared all right," says a youngster outside Carver Recreation Center. "Not only are they prepared in the summer but all year around. They're always sneaking about the black man's neighborhood, snatching people off the streets."

Watch the patrol cars sometime. They always slow down at Carver Center. They're forever looking and waiting for a black man to do something wrong. A Negro in this town can't spit on the sidewalk without the police seeing it.

Tax Boost

Proposed in Next Three Weeks

By PETER LISAGOR
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, July 6—The timing and size of President Johnson's request for a tax increase hinge inescapably on Vietnam war decisions.

The best judgment here is that the President will make a concrete proposal within the next three weeks, aimed at an effective date of Oct. 1.

Whether he sticks to his earlier proposal of a 6 per cent surtax or requests a higher figure—some speculate as high as 15 per cent increase—depends upon estimates of the rising war costs.

Without a tax increase this year, it is generally acknowledged, the fiscal 1968 budget deficit will be politically intolerable. The deficit for fiscal 1967, which ended on June 30, was in the range of $11 billion. Some economists figure the 1968 deficit could go as high as double that unless adequate fiscal measures are adopted.

Many economic experts anticipate a brisk, if not robust, surge in the economy in the coming months, even to the point that a tax hike will be useful as a stabilization tactic.

But the main concern at the moment is a whopping deficit prospect, which the President would want desperately to avoid in a Presidential election year.

Change Their Minds

There is evidence in Congress that a "war sacrifice" in the form of a tax increase is far more acceptable today than it was in the recent past. Some legislators have admitted a change of mind and willingness now to vote for a tax boost, as an earnest of U.S. determination in Vietnam and a reminder to the public that the nation is engaged in a costly war.

Though the Joint Chiefs of Staff reportedly support Westmoreland's current request for 70,000 more troops now, McNamara is said to believe the field general can do with fewer men. It is further reported that McNamara is persuaded that more effective use can now be made of South Vietnamese forces as an alternative to a greater infusion of American troops.

Present fiscal year estimates of the war cost is $22 billion. Rising prices coupled with increased manpower could push this estimate up by at least $3 billion and possibly more.

It is explained here that the administration hasn't sent up a tax measure to date because of, among other things, the softness in certain sectors of the economy. Now that the economy appears in for a revival, that one excuse for delay is no longer valid.

The $73 billion defense budget for fiscal 1968 included a level of 470,000 troops in Vietnam, or 4,000 more than are there now. If the 70,000 addition is granted, it will push the over-all figure up to 540,000 men, and spiral the costs to a point where the tax increase may have to be higher than the originally proposed 6 per cent surtax.

It is a recognizably tough decision for the President to take, especially in view of a generally promising economic outlook and his own high spirits over the fact of the high-level talks he had with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin at Glassboro, N. J.

Travia Hopeful

Convention Reconvenes Today

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention ended a two-week lull today, facing a calendar carrying some meaty issues and aware that its deadline for 1967 action is just a bit more than 12 weeks away.

Preliminary signs pointed to a comparatively busy session as delegates prepared to debate proposals dealing with such subjects as the courts, taxes and a lower voting age.

Convention President Anthony J. Travia, rejecting criticism that the convention has lagged since April 4, said he expected week sessions to continue through Tuesday and possibly through Wednesday.

The hottest issue on today's calendar was a proposal to drop the state's legal voting-age minimum from 21 to 18.

The measure was sent to the full convention last Thursday by the important Committee on Human Rights and Suffrage. The committee chose, however, to report the proposal to the floor without recommendations.

Ordinarily, committees either report propositions "favorably" — recommending approval — or decide they should be kept in committee and left to die there.

The convention also had before it a proposal to expand the number of Appellate Divisions of State Supreme Court from four to five or possibly six.

The calendar today also listed for debate a proposition that would make it possible for the state to tax the so-called "intangible personal property" of its residents.

The most common examples of intangible personal property are bank deposits — as distinct from interest, which is subject to income tax — and securities and the value of mortgages.

Over the weekend, Neal P. McCurn of Syracuse, a member of the Committee on the Judiciary, reported that the committee soon would report out proposals that would:

—Continue all Surrogate and Family Courts as well as the Court of Claims. Proposals for merger of those courts into State

Supreme Court were introduced and sent to the Judiciary Committee.

—Retain the system of choosing most judges through election. The convention has been asked to provide for various kinds of systems of appointing judges. Critics of the existing procedure say it leaves judges open to political influence. Delegates have shown little interest in changing the present system. —Have the state assume the entire cost of operating the entire court system — from the Court of Appeals down to district courts.

—Provide for enough judges of the State Supreme Court to assure one such judge for each 80,000 residents of the state.

—Continue the jury system for civil and criminal trials.

Supreme Court were introduced and sent to the Judiciary Committee.

8 Republicans Seek Halt In Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight Republican congressmen proposed today a unilateral diplomatic initiative by the United States for a step-by-step de-escalation of the Vietnam war.

The group said the United States should halt all bombing in North Vietnam north of the 21st Parallel for 60 days. This area includes Hanoi but not the port city of Haiphong.

Otherwise, they added, the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam would continue.

Rep. F. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts, spokesman for the group, said if this plan of small steps were successful, "a spirit of confidence might emerge" between the United States and Hanoi which could lead to peace negotiations, a similar staged de-escalation in South Vietnam or both.

"By halting the bombing in stages, by starting the cessation in northern North Vietnam and gradually working southward, and by tying each successive stage to equivalent North Vietnamese reductions in its support operations to the South, the plan minimizes the military risks of the United States," Morse said.

Morse said the plan was not put forward as a panacea for settling the Vietnam war but seemed to offer more promise than the present war policy of the Johnson administration or the alternatives suggested by either those who oppose the war or those who want it stepped up.

Morse said he submitted the proposal to the administration some time ago but got no response.

Besides Morse, the GOP congressmen making the proposal were John R. Dellenback of Oregon, Marvin L. Esch of Michigan, Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland, Charles A. Mosher of Pennsylvania, Robert T. Stafford of Vermont and Frank J. Horton of New York. None is identified with the GOP leadership in the House.

Slum Children Ride High as Airline Guests

NEW YORK (AP) — For 27 minutes the dull heat and endless soufflé of the slums were far away, and for 158 Brooklyn kids home became the sky and a jet plane.

"Hey, we're in heaven," one voice said.

"We've passed God," said another.

The voices belonged to children riding Sunday as guests aboard a jetliner from John F. Kennedy Airport. Their trip was arranged through the Mayor's Citizens Summer Committee Program which offers activities designed to keep young people too busy with other things to become involved in summer violence.

Overseas National Airways has pledged to take 1,000 city children up for a "once around the neighborhood" ride on their jets before school begins in September.

Led Attack

SAIGON (AP) — Navy Cmdr. G.A. Carlton, of Tully, N.Y., led an air attack in a raid Sunday on North Vietnamese watercraft 25 miles south of Haiphong.

The Navy said two 60-foot supply barges were destroyed and three were damaged.

Common Council Slates Big Agenda for Tuesday

Legislation aimed at establishing collective bargaining rights for all city employees could be dealt with at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting.

Another measure scheduled to be introduced would return Lawton Park to the Lawton Estate and put it back on the tax roll.

A letter from the Board of Fire Commissioners proposes a $17,231.68 budget note to cover the hiring of eight firemen needed to reopen Cornell Fire Station, Abel Street, on a year-around basis. Nothing on the docket, as of today, indicated definite action on the proposal, but something may come from the floor at the meeting.

The aldermen are also due to hear of state interest in establishing an "air monitoring laboratory" in the Kingston Point area. The interest was revealed in a letter to Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan from Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation, County Health Department.

A request for a quit claim deed is made in the Lawton Park proposal and, if approved, the property would be returned to the heirs of William Lawton. The heirs, it is noted, show "reversionary interest" in the prop-

BERRY'S WORLD

Questions and Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q.—I am a sole proprietor and want my son to work for me this summer. How should I treat him for tax purposes?

A.—You may deduct as a business expense the salary you pay him for services rendered. The salary deducted should be what you would pay a person not related to you for performing the same services.

The salary is subject to the same withholding requirements as your other employees if he is 21 or over. However, if he is under 21, his salary is subject only to income tax withholding and not social security withholding.

Q.—I have two weeks duty with the reserve this summer. Will my military pay be taxed?

A.—Yes, unless duties are performed in Vietnam for any part of the two weeks.

Q.—I was audited for the past two years. Does that mean I'm on a list to be audited every year?

A.—If your return has certain characteristics it may be audited and not because you were audited the past two years.

Computers screen returns and identify those which meet certain criteria. The identified returns are then reviewed by examiners who select those which are to be audited.

Q.—Talking with my father about taxes the other night, I found that he had been paying taxes on his Social Security pension for the past few years. Is there any way he can get a refund on this?

A.—If your father did declare his Social Security benefits as taxable income he is entitled to a refund. However, this is one of the things we look for when we process returns and a good percentage of the errors made on this point are caught.

Check your father's copies of past returns and have him file an amended return or a claim for refund if he did indeed pay taxes on Social Security benefits. A claim must be filed within three years from the date the original return was filed or within two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later. Thus your father may file claims for several years if necessary.

Q.—I am retiring and will sell my home to move into an apartment. Do I have to pay tax on this money?

A.—You may be liable for federal income tax on any profit you make on the home sale. This would be the amount by which the sales price less selling and certain other expenses exceeds the adjusted basis of the house.

There are special rules for those 65 years of age and over which could result in all or part of the gain being excluded from income.

IRS Document No. 5017, "Selling Your Home," contains helpful information. Drop a post card to your district office asking for a free copy.

Q.—How is income from a fellowship handled? Is this considered taxable?

A.—Grants are generally tax exempt. Grants made for the primary purpose of furthering your education and training are excludable from gross income, subject to certain limitations depending on whether or not you are a candidate for a degree. To make sure in your case, check with the institution offering the grant. Your local IRS office will be able to tell you if you give them the details on it.

Today In Washington

To Support LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whitney Young, director of the National Urban League, says he thinks Negroes will support President Johnson in 1968, regardless of any third-party candidates and no matter who the Republican candidate is.

Young said Negroes won't, as he put it, waste their votes on a third-party candidate even if it's Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who has been discussed as a possible "peace candidate."

Young said that among such Republican presidential prospects as Ronald Reagan, George Romney and Nelson A. Rockefeller, the largest Negro vote would go to Rockefeller.

But, he added, he isn't sure even Rockefeller would substantially reduce Negro support for Johnson.

Young appeared Sunday on CBS's "Face the Nation."

Return to Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans will continue to flock to the cities in the next few years, a new study says, and by 1975, about 73 per cent of the population—164 million people—will live in 224 metropolitan areas.

The National Planning Association said 60 per cent of those 164 million will be in the 25 biggest centers. These will range from an estimated 1,271,000 in the New Orleans area to 17 million or more in New York-north-east New Jersey.

The association reported that cities in the Southeast, Southwest, Mountain and Far West states will continue to grow, mostly at the expense of the Middle Atlantic region. It said that among cities which can expect substantial growth are Macon, Ga.; Tallahassee, Fla.; Texarkana, Tex.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Provo-Orem, Utah; Reno and Las Vegas, Nev.; Binghamton, N.Y.; and Baltimore, Md.

Stone Ridge Nursery School Opens in Fall

A group of Marbletown parents have formed non-sectarian, non-profit Stone Ridge Cooperative Nursery School for children between the ages of three and five.

The purpose of the school is stated as being "to help children think more clearly, live more successfully with one another and to become more aware of the world unfolding around them."

Classes starting Sept. 18 will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. in Christ the King Episcopal Church in Stone Ridge which has a "well lighted, cheerful room with adequate indoor and outdoor play areas."

The nursery will follow the public school calendar for closings, holidays and vacations.

The class quota of 18 children for the first year has been filled. Children may be placed on a waiting list for September, 1968 by contacting Mrs. Robert Diamond of Stone Ridge.

Mrs. Kathryn Schwarz, a former kindergarten teacher at the Marbletown Elementary School, has been appointed Nursery school teacher. She will be assisted by parents of enrolled children on a rotating aid basis.

The steering committee for the school will continue to meet throughout the summer making final preparations for the opening in September.

General chairman of the committee is Mrs. Othman Abugheida, assisted by Robert S. Diamond, equipment; Mrs. Ted T. Grenda, creative supplies; Mrs. Thomas Davenport, facilities; Mrs. Martin Tully, cooperative committee; Mrs. William Davenport, personnel; Mrs. John H. Thornton, education; Mrs. Diamond, secretary; Abugheida, treasurer.

Martin Tully will act as legal advisor and Mrs. Arthur Sullivan and Richard Davenport will be in charge of fund raising.

Infant Burned In Firecracker Blast; Boy Held

A three-year-old Kingston girl was treated at Kingston Hospital for a burn on the face from a tossed firecracker at Forsyth Park Saturday, and a police investigation resulted in the arrest of a 15-year-old boy for Family Court hearing.

Police noted at 7:10 p. m. that Floyd Graham, of 60 Fairmont Avenue, reported that his daughter, Adelaide suffered the burn. Police said the child had been asleep in a carriage when the firecracker was tossed into it by the boy. He faces court action on a juvenile delinquency charge.

Mailbag Has Surprises For Columnist Hal Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The average American speaks about 4,500 words a day. But this figure doesn't apply to teenagers on the telephone.

When stranded on beaches, whales sometimes suffer so badly from sunburn they died, even after being rescued and towed out to deep water.

No wonder the tired businessman comes home tired and bored. He spends 40 per cent of his working time attending staff meetings and conferences.

New Taste Treat

Looking for a crunchy new delicacy to pep up your cocktail parties. Why not try roasted butterfly eggs? In Mexico City, they are sold by the can.

Some reptiles and fish continue to grow slowly all their lives. The trouble is—they don't grow mentally.

The younger generation is often accused of being lazy. But studies show that one out of four high school students earns all his own spending money, and two out of three college students earn at least part of their education expenses.

Self-improvement and idealism also attract our young people. One proof: four million of the world's 10 million Boy Scouts are in the United States.

Quotable notables: "The most exhausting thing in life, I have discovered, is being sincere. That is why so much social life is exhausting; one is wearing a mask."—Anne Morrow Lindbergh.

In ancient Egypt men, as well as women of the upper classes, wore gold necklaces bracelets and earrings.

Squirrels have the right-of-way in Olney, Ill., and a motorist can be fined $100 for running over one. The town is seeking to protect several thousand of the animals there which make up the world's only known colony of albino squirrels.

Can you name the only U.S. president who was married in the White House? He was Grover Cleveland, who was wed there on June 2, 1886, to his ward Frances Folsom.

We like our motor cars to purr softly, but in Thailand the most desirable car is the one that squeaks the loudest. Natives feel the sound drives away evil spirits.

Horrible Pun
Worst pun of the year: "Did you hear about the rabbit with halitosis? He could have been a big success, but he missed it by a hare's breath."—Farmers' Almanac.

Folklore: A flea on your head is a sign you'll get a letter soon. You'll get a sty in your eye if you pick a flower before it has fully bloomed. It's best to break up eggshells, because witches sometimes ride on them if no broom is handy. Your infant will have sound teeth if you rub its gums with a wolf's tooth.

It may save you money if you never let your wife go grocery shopping except when she's well fed. A recent study found that women who hadn't eaten for five hours before going to a supermarket spent $7.76 more than usual.

It was Irish poet James Stephens who observed, "Women are wiser than men because they know less and understand more."

Finesse Can Win or Lose

By Oswald and James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jim: "John Crawford came out of retirement to win the Eastern Knockout team game with you, Tobias Stone, Alan Messer and Larry Rosler. How did he play after having been a social player for three years?"

Oswald: "He was quite rusty in the first set of boards but by the time the second set came around he was right back in form except that he played the dummy a trifle slower than he used to. On the other hand his technique was perfect. We picked up 720 points worth 13 International Match points on this hand when the opposing South failed to use this correct technique."

Jim: "It is easy enough to go down with the South hand. Assuming that diamonds are opened and continued, South ruffs the third diamond and plays out the ace and king of trumps. The trumps don't break and, with the heart finesse losing, South is down one."

Oswald: "That's just the way the hand was played against us but Johnny used the winning technique. He ruffed the third diamond, played out high clubs, cashed his ace of trumps, led a small trump and finessed dummy's jack. Then he drew the last trump and led hearts."

Score U. S. Exhibit

WASHINGTON (AP)—All but 10 of 189 letters received have been critical of the U.S. exhibit at Montreal's Expo 67, but a federal spokesman says he believes the general reaction of visitors has been favorable.

The spokesman for the U.S. Information Agency, which runs the pavilion, said Saturday that press reaction also has been favorable toward the geodetic dome display. He added that "people don't write so much when they're happy," and noted that 60,000 persons visit the pavilion each day.

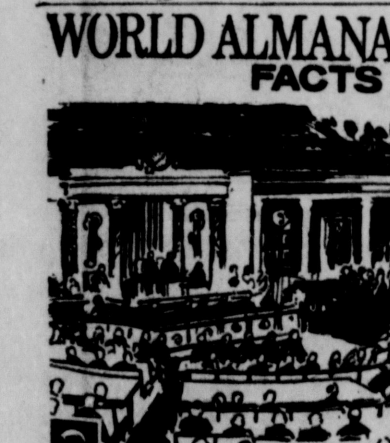

A pamphlet is being printed to help visitors understand the U.S. exhibits, the spokesman said.

He said that, since the Canadians asked that exhibitors not display a show of products, the pavilion featured items of the "creative America." These include works of U.S. pioneers, space-age inventions and Hollywood creations.

Fishing Enthusiasts

It has been estimated that some 50 million persons enjoyed fishing during 1966, using nearly $347 million in tackle. These figures are expected to rise during 1967.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The salaries of congressmen have changed an average of once every decade. Three times Congress has reduced its members' compensation—each time the economy was depressed, says The World Almanac.

When George Washington was president, Congressmen received $6 for each day of attendance plus $6 for each 20 miles of travel to and from sessions. Presently, they receive $30,000 plus travel and expense allowances.

Report Congo Enemy Routed

By DENNIS RYLE
SAKANIA, Zambia (AP) — Congo radio broadcasts monitored in this dusty Zambia-Congo border post today said white mercenary-led antigovernment forces had been routed and were being pursued in the eastern Congo bush. One broadcast said they would be massacred.

A broadcast from Minshasa said the eastern Congo towns of Kisangani, Bukavu and Kindu were controlled by the Congolese national army.

Later, however, President Joseph D. Mobutu said mercenaries still held the airport at Kisangani. The Belgian Radio in Brussels broadcast an account of an interview by the Congolese Press Agency with Gen. Mobutu, who said the mercenaries are holding university professors, women and children as hostages, and perhaps a group of a score of European newsmen.

Mobutu said he had ordered his troops not to attack the airport for fear they would endanger the hostages.

The professors were members of the local faculty. The newsmen came from Europe about 10 days ago.

One broadcast heard in Sakanian suggested the fleeing Katangan troops and foreign mercenaries who rebelled against the Mobutu regime a week ago are not to be slain with bullets but massacred with poisoned arrows wherever they are found.

Customer Hurt In Stage Leap

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Night club singer Lena Storm did her usual leap into a customer's lap, snuggled up close and sang into his ear: "If you love me."

Nine days later the customer, Richard Taylor, is still hobbling around on crutches, his left knee stiff and sore. His lawyers have written to the Gaiety Bar that Taylor can't go to work as a bus driver.

Taylor, 45, joined the act at the Gaiety when Miss Storm called for a volunteer to join her on stage.

"I sat him on a chair as I do with a volunteer every night," said the singer, who is 5 foot 1, and weighs 113 pounds.

"Then I sort of leapt onto his knees and sat on his lap and he finished up singing the song with me. I'd no idea he'd hurt his knee."

"I don't blame the girl," said Taylor. "I may have been sitting a bit awkwardly when she landed in my lap."

"My left knee is still stiff and sore. I could hardly get off the stage afterward."

UMBILICAL CORD KEY TO CONGENITAL DEFECTS?

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
When a baby is born the doctor ties, then cuts, the umbilical cord, applies a sterile covering and then, in most cases, doesn't give it a second thought. Now Dr. Solnitky at Georgetown University in Washington has announced that a closer inspection of the severed cord may give important clues to possible congenital defects. On the cut surface of the normal cord two arteries and one vein are plainly visible but on about one per cent of cords only one artery and vein are seen.

When this is the case a not hereditary.

careful search for birth defects should be made because early recognition leads to prompt application of corrective measures. The earlier such measures are started the better the final results. Often the defects present in these infants involve the intestines or the urinary tract and cannot be detected without special tests.

The correction is usually surgical and may mean the difference between life and death for the infant. The cause of this defect is believed to be inadequacy of the supply of blood delivered through the cord, but the cause of the cord defect is not known. It can be safely stated, however, that it is not hereditary.

Q—My son, 3, has alopecia areata. What is the cause and how long will it take for his hair to grow back?

A—The cause of spotty loss of hair (alopecia areata) is unknown but it is seen most often in highly nervous children with finicky appetites. Before a diagnosis of this disease is made it is necessary to rule out ringworm of the scalp. The loss of hair is permanent in a small percentage of children but in most it persists for several months and then the hair gradually returns. The treatment is unsatisfactory. When the hair comes back it does so spontaneously and not because of any treatment used.

Bird Trouble
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miami Beach residents near Euclid Avenue and 16th Street have been besieged for the past two weeks by a skydiving, head-pecking mockingbird.

The bird spots his victim, swoops down and hits from behind.

Most of the time, he flies down directly from the top of a building. But for sneak sorties, he's been known to roost in a 15-foot palm tree.

The residents want to get rid of the bird and they insist that they're not just being soreheads but they're worried about what will happen if the bird attacks an elderly person with a weak heart.

VISIT WITH A PHYSIO-THERAPIST

Born in India, confined to a Japanese war camp at the tender age of six and later living in such countries as Dutch East Indies, Hungary, Sweden, the Philippines and finally America, makes up only part of a colorful background for a very charming licensed and registered physio-therapist. She is Maya Andrau of 151 Tinker Street, Woodstock, who just recently announced the opening of her office.

Maya doesn't look like a physio-therapist. She is a small diminutive woman with a bubbling personality. She doesn't remember India because she left that country with her family at the age of six weeks. Her father, William, an engineer for the oil refinery construction industry, did a lot of traveling and his family went right along with him. When the Japanese invaded Java, the Andrau family was caught in the tragedy. Maya, her mother and sister along with other women and children were confined to a Japanese war camp. Her father was shipped to Japan. Maya does remember the camp even though she was only six.

After the war, the Andraus managed to get to the Philippines and from there to Texas where they stayed with relatives. The family moved to Woodstock in 1949 and were naturalized citizens by 1952.

The senior Andraus are still world travelers but maintain a home in Woodstock and a winter home in Spain. Mr. Andrau is expected to retire soon from his engineering position.

Maya Andrau received her BS in Physical Therapy at Columbia University, College of Physicians, and her masters in anthropology from New York University. Like her parents, she has maintained a diet of travel for she studied in Holland, spent a year in the London School of Political Science and Economics, one year of German study in Vienna and studied Natural Childbirth Education in London and Yorkshire.

In New York, Miss Andrau studied privately with Mrs. Elizabeth Bing, R.P.T., specializing in the Lamaze Method of Natural Childbirth which Maya describes as "proper breathing, relaxation and body building exercises." "There isn't anything new about physical therapy," Maya says. "The Romans used hydro (water) therapy but interest in the art of physio-therapy grew after the injuries of World War I."

Maya's sister, Yvonne, is also a registered physio-therapist and worked in a doctor's office and later at the Benedictine Hospital where Maya is now employed on a part-time basis in the Physio-Therapy Department. Yvonne is the wife of Woodstock artist Tom Riley.

When doctors refer patients to the young physical therapist at her 151 Tinker Street office in Woodstock, they will find that Maya will not have any language problems. In addition to her excellent English, she speaks Dutch, French, German and a little Spanish. A talented, vivacious gal!

NEW YORK—(NEA)—For summer, pastels have gone bright and brown has come in to its own. But the staccato beat of black and white still holds top place in new, swirly shapes.

The current black and white rage could be due to the influence on fashion of a recent New York art gallery showing of the work of Aubrey Beardsley, pen-and-ink illustrator of the Victorian era. Or it may well be the enduring qualities of black and white that keep the combination coming back again and again as a great cool look.

This summer's black and whites are turned out in a great variety of prints—wavy stripes, coin-size dots, abstract animal prints and Persian motifs.

Bill Smith, one of America's leading young designers and a winner of the coveted Coty Award, has turned these prints into a group of young, with-it dresses for Pat Richards. They're versatile junior-size fashions that lend themselves to any vacation plans the summer may have in store. In textured Caprolan nylon jersey they are well-suited to travel.

There's a cool, off-the-shoulder smock, a perfect day-through-dancing dress in wavy stripes interspersed with dots, a slim, long-sleeved shift in a Persian stripe and an empire shaped dress, wrapped snugly around the midriff that is done in a combination of three black and white prints.

There are kite shapes and pantdresses, too, a swirly tent or two.

THREE PRINTS ARE BETTER THAN ONE when they're all black and white and related. Bare summer cooler (left) is designed with a high, wrapped waistline. The easy, mobile skirt is an abstract animal print, spotted leopards against wavy stripes. The stripes stand alone in the shallow bodice. The midriff sash is a leopard-spot print. Ornate scrollwork stripes in black and white shape into an easy-mannered dress (right). Accents of solid black are at the high yoke, shirt-cuffed sleeves and slash pockets. These designs are in Jersey of textured Caprolan nylon by Bill Smith and Pat Richards.

Be An Organized Week-End Hostess

Long range planning makes it possible to entertain week-end guests, both frequently and enjoyably. But, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist, beds, baths, food—and children—all need advance consideration.

BEDS—Sleeping arrangements should be geared to your space and to the maximum number of guests you generally need to accommodate. When furnishing a family TV room, or den, give some thought to installing a studio couch or sleeper-sofa.

Lightweight aluminum folding cots with foam mattresses are ideal extra beds. Camp and do as much cooking ahead of time as possible.

take little storage space and set up quickly.

While it is desirable to have beds made up before guests arrive, departing guests may be asked to strip beds, fold a cot, dismantle a crib or replace a studio couch.

Guests appreciate having drawer space available. Try storing the "extra" bed linens in drawers that can be used by visitors.

BATHROOMS come in for extra use when there are house guests. Be sure to have a hearty supply of clean towels and washcloths—and enough towel racks around.

Extra standing towel racks may be set up quickly in bedroom or bathroom.

FOOD Plan meals ahead of time and do as much cooking ahead of time as possible.

Then decide what help you will need—and want. Guest mothers usually are happy to help with meal preparation, table setting and dishwashing. The often-time hostess learns to accept help graciously.

CHILDREN are in a special category. Much depends on how many are in the combined host and guest families, and on their ages.

It is helpful to establish house rules, post these on a bulletin board and explain them to the youngsters at the time they are "settling in." This explanation should not be dictatorial—simply a few words about "how we do things here."

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

TIPPING ACCORDING TO FORMULA OR FOR VALUE RECEIVED?

The practice of tipping has gotten entirely out of hand. When a waiter becomes abusive or insulting because the tip is not what he thinks it should be, it is time for the public to rebel.

Automatic tipping—a certain prescribed percentage given whether the service is good or not—is demeaning. The origin of the word tip is said to be the initials of "To Insure Promptness." This is what a tip should be, a gladly given compensation for good, prompt service, and friendliness. I am not against tipping, believe me, but I am against a reward for poor service and unpleasant manners. If people were permitted to tip according to the quality of the service, rather than by rote, that quality would improve in a hurry. But why should anyone who knows he is going to receive a fixed percentage of the bill make any effort to do better?

Communist officialdom frowns on tipping as a practice that "insults human dignity." At the same time it is officially admitted that the practice is spreading. A writer in Pravda argues that people justify tipping on the grounds that "the tip takers need the money to supplement their salaries." "This," he says "is nonsense because... waiters get as much as highly qualified mechanics." That may be so in the Soviet Union, but it is not so in the United States; and to make tipping more reasonable, it is true that many restaurants and other employers would have to raise the salaries of their help.

The Western European system of adding a fixed tip to the check is probably the best solution. The waiter knows where he stands, his salary is based on that fixed rate, and there is no reason for unpleasantness between employee and customer. If the service has been especially good, or the waiter has been unusually pleasant, the diner adds a few coins—possibly those brought in change, and everyone is happy.

A man in New Jersey has become so thoroughly disgusted that he has founded an organization called NOTIP, standing for "National Operation to Insure Still Pride." The incident which inspired rebellion was as follows: He and his wife dined in a Greenwich Village restaurant, and found both food and service fairly mediocre. He had a very little change in his pocket, so his wife put some on the table, saying "Is this enough?" The waiter, standing behind him, leaned over and said, "No, it's not!" A few incidents of this sort could well make the wildest Milquetoast an ardent member of NOTIP. Rather than a tip, the founder of this organization leaves a card on the table which reads,

THANK YOU
I appreciate your service but I am deliberately not leaving a tip. This is not selfishness but a matter of principle. I believe tipping is a patronizing habit that robs a person of dignity and pride. You should receive a proper salary without having to rely on charity.

Please pass this card on to your employer.

NOTIP—National Operation To Insure Still Pride.

I cannot go along with this approach because I firmly believe that a tip given in the right spirit is a well deserved reward, and does nothing to destroy the dignity of pride of the receiver.

Rondout Valley Graduate Will Compete For State Beauty Crown on Tuesday

A charming 18-year-old High Falls girl will carry the Ulster County banner in the Miss New York State Pageant which opens Tuesday in Olean High School, in that Upstate community.

The pageant at Olean is a preliminary to the Miss America Pageant to be held in Atlantic City this summer.

Blonde Susan Schoonmaker, a 1967 graduate of Rondout Valley Central School, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schoonmaker of High Falls. She was chosen Miss Ulster County at the county pageant held in Saugerties last October. Miss Schoonmaker, in addition to winning the swim suit competition was also named Miss Congeniality by the contestants.

She will be accompanied to Olean by her chaperone, Mrs. Laura Buono and Herbert G. Lachmann, who is executive director of this year's county pageant.

At the time she won the Ulster County Pageant, the local beauty queen said she hoped to become an airline stewardess.

The five-foot, two, blue-eyed blonde won a $650 scholarship and many other awards as the Ulster County queen.

Her hobbies include, sewing, reading, cooking and knitting.

Miss Schoonmaker will crown the new Ulster County queen at this year's pageant in September to be held in Saugerties High School auditorium.

The county pageant committee is currently seeking applicants to compete for the 1968 crown.

Husband Has Kissing 'Hang-up'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I think something is wrong with my husband. He hasn't kissed me since Jan. 10, 1964. That's the day we were married. I am 22 and Le Roy is 23, and we have two adorable children.

Everybody in our whole family knows about how Le Roy never kisses me, and it's just terrible. Yesterday I went to kiss him, and he turned his head away and said, "I don't kiss anybody."

His mother said, "Le Roy, your wife isn't just anybody." He shrugged his shoulders and said, "I just don't like to kiss, so sue me," and that was the end of it.

I keep myself immaculate, Abby, and my moth is always clean, so that's not it. It doesn't seem natural for a married man not to want to kiss his own wife. I am almost at the end of my rope. I'll do anything you say. Please help me.

UNKISSED
DEAR UNKISSED: Le Roy is the one who needs the help. He has a "hang up" on kissing. And until (and unless) he wants to overcome it, you will either have to learn how to live without Le Roy's kisses, or you may have to learn to live without Le Roy.

DEAR ABBY: Now I've seen everything! An obviously pregnant woman in a mini-skirt!

Don't you think there ought to be a law against people who don't have any more sense than to go out on the street looking like that?

SEEN EVERYTHING
DEAR SEEN: I can only repeat the immortal words of Jim Klobuchar: "Never in the history of fashion has so little material been raised so high to reveal so much that needs to be covered so badly."

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and have been dating a certain young man a short while. I enjoy his company very much, and he seems to enjoy mine.

Recently I heard that he was engaged to another girl, so I asked him for the truth. He told me that he definitely was NOT engaged to anyone, and that he liked me very much.

I believed him. Now, again, I heard from a good friend that not only IS he engaged, but he gave the girl a diamond last Christmas.

I don't want to date him if he is engaged because I don't want to start trouble, and besides I'd only be wasting my time. The problem is: Who should I believe? What should I do?

TROUBLED
DEAR TROUBLED: Tell the young man that you heard he gave a girl a diamond last Christmas, and watch his reaction. It shouldn't be too difficult to learn the truth about an official engagement. Personally, I would believe a person until I caught him lying.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is something I just discovered:

Cotton eyelet dresses are very difficult to iron because of the threads used in the embroidery-like material.

I have always ironed slowly to keep from pulling these threads and to avoid puckers and tearing the beautiful cut-work.

Then one day it occurred to me to reverse the iron and use the square end!

Perfect! It ironed like a dream. Now there's no need to go at a snail's pace anymore.

Theresa Papp

Theresa, you're a real jewel. And far better than a pearl. You're a 20-karat diamond.

And how about ironing those crocheted tablecloths and placemats the same way? (Don't forget to turn them on the wrong side first so the design will stand up when they're finished.)

Was just thinking... too bad we aren't able to turn our heads completely backwards then we wouldn't have to see that ironing basket staring us in the face!

Heloise

Dear Heloise: Why don't people include their address under their closing signature when writing a letter? Most everyone puts it in the upper right-hand corner.

By writing it at the end of the letter, it can be ripped off for filing or copying into an address book and you have all the pertinent information needed.

When the address is torn off the top of the first page for further reference, the person's name always has to be added.

Harry McGirt

Dear Heloise:

Our family eats a lot of cauliflower and as I cook it often, I thought your readers might be interested in a good way to remove it from the pan intact.

I just insert a small metal skewer through the stalk of the whole cauliflower before cooking it. It's then easier to lift out without breaking.

Mrs. W.C.A.

And are you all aware if you cook the whole head upside down, it's even prettier? Try it next time. I always add about four drops of yellow food coloring in my water and come out with a beautiful head.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

While attending an out-of-town wedding recently I learned an ingenious way to "follow the leader" when traveling to an unfamiliar place.

Simply have the leader fasten a colored cloth (or something similar) to the top of his car antenna and you will have very little trouble spotting him if a few cars separate you.

Roz

Dear Heloise:

Recently our family noticed how awful the garage looked. Five bikes didn't help any. There seemed to be practically no way of getting through the garage.

Dad painted little individual parking lots and he wrote each child's name on them. Every bike had to be parked in the correct lot or the owner paid a fine.

Since then the garage has been in perfect order.

Loretta Murray

Thanks, Loretta, for sharing this with us. A little effort and a little thought sometimes brings family harmony. Wouldn't you say so?

Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

On these hot days I put my 8-month-old son in my seldom-used turkey roaster on the kitchen floor. I add a toy and about an inch of water, then slip a towel underneath it unless I plan to mop...

He's cool, happy and in view while I do the dishes.

That same roaster makes a perfect traveling bathtub at the beach, too.

N.L.

Dear Heloise:

Before you throw away that old steel wool scouring pad, snip it into little pieces with your favorite dull pair of scissors and see how sharp it makes them.

By a freak of chance he connected with the ball and sent it sailing for the green. It bounded directly into the cup for a hole in one. Bill—You've made a hole in one. I have traveled everywhere. I have seen everything—and I want to tell you there is no place on earth like Russia. What a country! What art—what music—what culture! Yes, friend, Russia is a paradise. Why We Say--

"FISH AS BRAIN FOOD"

Medical science has exploded the idea that fish is a brain food, although the expression still persists. It started from the discovery that fish contains a great deal of phosphorus, an element found in the tissues of the human brain. However, added phosphorus does not increase brain power.

why the devil don't you go back? Joe—Well, to tell you the truth I just happen to be crazy about your lousy capitalistic system.

To doubt what is supposed to be an established fact proves conclusively that you have a mind of your own.

The roadster skidded around the corner, jumped in the air, knocked down a lamp-post, smashed three cars, ran against a stone fence, and stopped. A girl climbed out of the wreck. Susan—Darling, that's what I call a kiss! Time may be a great healer, but it certainly is no beauty operator.

432 Pick McNamara As Top Businessman

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The University of Michigan's Graduate School of Business Administration polled 432 businessmen on who is the country's greatest living business executive. They picked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

He used to be president of the Ford Motor Co. and he has a brain like a computer. Everybody says so. He can rattle off any time an astonishing list of facts and figures.

He sometimes oversells himself, as on some of his trips to Vietnam when he came back saying things were looking up, and then things got worse, which could be interpreted as meaning sometimes he needs new glasses.

But he has streamlined the Defense Department. And there's no doubt it's McNamara, not the generals, who runs the place, about the first time a civilian has ever been able to do that.

Shortly he will return from his ninth trip to Vietnam in six years, an inspection trip in keeping with his present line of work, which is quite different from trying to figure out the prospects for the new 1968 model hardtop.

Never in his life did he run into the kind of competition encountered in Vietnam. Over there it is not computers but bombs and bullets which tally profits and losses. Dollar signs don't count.

Now about 465,000 Americans are engaged in the war with the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese, or 31 times the 15,000 U.S. troops who were there three years ago. But a strange thing happened.

While we kept pouring in more men, so did the enemy. They seem to have an inexhaustible supply. But it costs North Vietnam a lot less to fight a war.

And the Soviets have supplied North Vietnam with weapons, some of them very good, which, from a business view, makes North Vietnam look like a Soviet distributor.

McNamara has conferred at length in Saigon with the American commander, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who wants still more men, possibly 100,000 to 140,000 men.

As any good businessman would, McNamara has probed and pressed to know if the best possible use is being made of the men already there. When he returns he will report his recommendations, for or against, to President Johnson.

Westmoreland said last week: "We are slowly but steadily winning." This indicated some progress, for when McNamara returned from Vietnam in 1965 he said the Communists were tripling their rate of infiltration but "we have stopped losing."

Nevertheless, over the weekend Hanoi radio disputed Westmoreland's slowly winning. It said the war is a stalemate right now. So this is all a pretty gloomy business for McNamara.

Suppose he decides Westmoreland needs 100,000 men or more and Johnson sends them and then the North Vietnamese pump in more men to make up the difference.

Then what happens? Does McNamara make another trip in a year or so and does Westmoreland say things are looking a little better but he needs more men? And if that happens, how long will it keep on happening?

Wants Election Posters Banned For Beauty Sake

Seeking to preserve the beauty of Ulster County's highways and streets, Woodstock Supervisor William A. West (R), will offer a resolution Thursday night calling for the Board of Supervisors to recommend that all political candidates in the 1967 election avoid the use of outdoor posters, bumper stickers and billboards.

West's resolution calls upon the individual members of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors to discuss with all political leaders in their communities the banning of outdoor posters, bumper stickers and billboards in future elections.

"Ulster County is noted for its beautiful mountains, valleys, hamlets and cities and has priceless, irreplaceable resources in these lovely surroundings," West said. Many Ulster County residents and people from far and wide come to view and enjoy the natural beauties from the highways and streets of the county.

Posters on trees, utility poles, fences; bumperstickers on automobiles and billboards detract and despoil this natural beauty along highways and streets and West calls on the politicians and office seekers to halt the practice in the interest of preserving the county's natural scenery.

Members of the Board of Supervisors, as leaders in the county, "have a responsibility to preserve and enhance said natural beauty," West said and has consequently prepared the resolution to be submitted Thursday.

Miss Universe To Be Chosen Saturday Night

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miss Universe 1967, who will be chosen next Saturday night in a contest based on "beauty of body" and personality, must face a year of no dating without a chaperone.

Most of the girls don't seem to realize they won't be alone with men for a year.

"Is it worth it?" commented Miss England, Jennifer Lewis, when she found out Sunday.

"Yick, for a whole year?" said Ivonne Coll, Miss Puerto Rico.

Miss USA, Sylvia Louise Hitchcock, a Miami girl who was also Miss Alabama, was aware of the rule because she cannot date without a chaperone while she is Miss USA.

"For some of the girls from Latin American countries, it is what they are used to. For me it is different," she said.

Russians See Some Progress From Glassboro Summit Talks

BY ANTHONY C. COLLINGS

KAZAN, U.S.S.R. (AP) — "You hold flowers in the dirty hands of an aggressor," the Communist youth official said.

He was injecting the Vietnam problem into a friendly meeting in the provincial capital 450 miles east of Moscow where students gave flowers to an American correspondent.

His words about "dirty hands," directed against the American, soured the friendly meeting, but not all Russians take such a militant attitude.

Interviewed on their reaction to the recent Glassboro meetings of President Johnson with Soviet Premier Alexi N. Kosygin, some Russians show a strong willingness to play up U.S.-Soviet areas of agreement and play down differences such as Vietnam.

"You cannot imagine how much pleasure I felt when I read of the summit meeting," said the middle-aged manager of a factory on the Volga River. "Even though there are differences, I am certain that our two countries will grow closer and closer. It is bound to happen."

As a practical example of what he considered inevitable cooperation, the manager said his plant has agreed to buy American machinery.

The controlled Soviet press has given little emphasis to the Glassboro sessions.

Told of reports of a friendly atmosphere at the summit, a provincial newspaper editor said: "This is a good sign. They spoke frankly and hid nothing from one another. The situation is improved—but who knows if it will lead to anything?"

The Vietnam problem, including a recent Soviet charge of U.S. air attacks on a Soviet ship in Haiphong, causes some Russians to take a less cooperative attitude.

A small-town mayor, riding next to an American on a country bus, issued a flat "nyet" when asked if the Kremlin might consider shifting its hard line on Vietnam in an effort to improve U.S.-Soviet relations.

The premier of the Tatar Republic, a Volga River province of the Russian Federation within Kazan, sits capital, narrowed his eyes as he listened to an interviewer's question on the summit.

He replied carefully: "I agree completely with the statement of Kosygin."

Asked if he thought the summit talks could lead to progress in Moscow-Washington relations, the official declined to answer.

One of his Cabinet members was more talkative. "They apparently reached agreement on some questions but not on others," he said.

"The Vietnam aggression prevents progress. Our two positions are very close on a treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons. But the Vietnam problem is still the most important one."

Some Russians see China as a major factor in U.S.-Soviet relations.

"With China being what it is, especially after this H-bomb explosion, the logic of the situation brings our two countries closer," said a Moscow office worker.

Surveyor 4 To Blast for Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists say the Surveyor 4 spacecraft scheduled to take off for the moon Thursday will carry electronic insurance against the double bounce that nearly ruined Surveyor 3's landing April 19.

Surveyor 3's radar system, designed to cut off its descent-braking rockets 14 feet above the lunar surface, became confused by some mysteriously reflective rocks as the craft neared touchdown.

The engines kept burning and rocketed the three-legged vehicle 35 feet high on the first bound, 20 feet on the second. Luckily it remained upright and was able to meet its main goals of digging small trenches in the lunar soil and televising pictures of them to earth.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory released the first official explanation of the mishap, Sunday. It said the unusually reflective rocks have not been identified and there is no way of telling whether the same hazard exists in Surveyor 4's landing area.

To the part of its electronic brain which could be confused by unexpected radar reflections will be by-passed during Surveyor 4's descent.

Plans call for Surveyor 4 to land Saturday night in Sinus Medii, the central bay near the center of the moon about 400 miles northeast of the now inactive Surveyor 3.

Man Injured In Van, Car Mishap Today

Kenneth Parnett, 38, of 232 Harwich Street, was injured at 10:30 a. m. today when his car was involved in collision with a van truck on Route 28 at the Howard Johnson Restaurant exit driveway.

Trooper Roy Martinussen of the Kingston substation said Parnett was driving north when a 1966 truck pulled out from the restaurant drive and the vehicles collided. The truck overturned, blocking traffic on the northbound lane.

Howard H. Slater, 61, of 172 Wall Street, driver of the truck, was cited for going through a flashing red light. The summons is returnable later before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster.

Trooper Martinussen reported Parnett was taken to Kingston Hospital for x-ray examination.

'Most Beautiful Y in World'

Some Unrealistic: Wilson

'Open Burning' Changes Favored

Ulster County Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson said today he is urging some modification of the recently established regulations of the State Health Department in relation to "open burning." Assemblyman Wilson said that the rules were designed to combat air pollution in the State, and while he agreed with the basic attack on the problem of air pollution, Wilson felt that some of the restrictions concerning open burning were unrealistic.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, there is no provision in the new rules which would allow a property owner to burn leaves on his own land, even in the more rural or suburban areas of the State, and Wilson noted that this could pose a serious hardship to property owners in upstate areas such as Ulster County.

Stormville Convict Dies Of Injuries

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) A Manhattan convict died at Vassar Hospital Saturday, six days after he was injured in a fight in the mess hall at Green Haven Prison, Stormville.

He was Ulysses Small, 41, who would have been eligible for parole Aug. 22.

Warden Harold W. Follette said Small was struck by another prisoner, Walter Weems Jr., 31, and fell and hit his head.

The county medical examiner said Small died of brain injuries.

John R. Heilman, Dutchess County district attorney, said he was investigating.

Small was serving 2½ to 5 years for attempted grand larceny.

He lived at 45 W. 65th St., Manhattan. Weems is serving 10 to 30 years for first degree robbery and assault.

His home was listed as 182 Powell St., Brooklyn.

Assemblyman Perry Duryea, the Assembly's Minority Leader, and added that Assemblyman Duryea has sent copies of the Wilson letter to assemblymen throughout the State.

In addition to the problems connected with leaf and trash burning, Assemblyman Wilson also cited certain rather unrealistic restrictions which have been placed on the burning of trees and brush in rural areas, and the use of smudge-pots by farmers.

Wilson said this sort of burning only takes place in connection with the clearing of land, or during an emergency due to frost, and since they are non-recurring sources of pollution the assemblyman said that these stringent regulations tend to impose an unnecessary hardship upon those involved, particularly farmers.

Assemblyman Wilson concluded by saying he has been assured by the Governor's office that his views on the problem, and the suggestions he offered to amend the present "open burning" regulations would be given careful consideration and study by the State's Air Pollution Control Bureau.

Another Whooper
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A second baby whooping crane pecked free of its shell at the San Antonio Zoo, and zoo keepers separated the rare little bird and its angry parents.

It hatched early Sunday in the cage of Rosie and Crip, two of only 58 whoopers known to exist.

Friday the protective wing of Rosie smothered the first baby to emerge from the two eggs in her nest. It had been left there for fear the adult birds might smash the remaining egg.

Zoo Director said the infant whooper soon will have the run of a small outside pen, feeding on a high-calcium diet of fish.

Coffee accounts for 80 per cent of Colombia's export trade.

Historic Site Proved Haven for All Faiths

During the fighting in Jerusalem, 65 Arabs, Jews and Christians took refuge in the air raid shelter of the YMCA in the Israeli section of the city, according to word received today by Ralph Stewart, president of the Kingston YMCA.

"The Jerusalem, Israel YMCA has always been regarded as neutral territory, where the political tensions of everyday existence may be put aside, at least temporarily, and this latest crisis was no exception," he said. "Mortar shells landed along the southern part of the building, on the tennis courts, and close enough to break more than 100 windows, but the 65 survived without injury."

Another Suffers

Not so fortunate was the YMCA building in the former Jordanian section of the city. "It is located almost opposite the Mandelbaum Gate, and was between two heavy lines of fire," Stewart reported. "A good many shells hit the building, nearly every window was broken, several walls were severely damaged, and the furnishings, most of which had been made by refugee boys at the YMCA Vocational Training School in Pericho, were looted."

He said that early estimates indicate the cost of restoring this facility will be close to $100,000, but that there were no personal injuries, despite the extensive damage.

Stewart pointed out that the Kingston Association, through its annual World Service program, assists YMCA's in 19 cities in the Middle East, including those on both sides of the former dividing line in Jerusalem. Six YMCA staff directors from North America, serving in the Middle East, were also reported safe, although the families of those living in Arab countries had to be evacuated to Athens or Istanbul. One North American staff member, home on furlough when the fighting broke out, was rushed back to Israel after his immediate services were requested, and special clearances arranged for his return.

The United Nations Truce Supervisory Organization (UNTSO), under the direction of General Odd Bull, moved into the Jerusalem, Israel YMCA on June 14 and established their temporary headquarters there. Government House, their permanent headquarters, was captured during the fighting, first by the Jordanian Army and then by the Israelis, who still occupy it. UNTSO personnel now centered at the "Y" represent 17 different nationalities.

Not New Role

That is not a new role for this historic YMCA, according to Stewart. "It was in the 'Y' that the original UN Commission on the Partition of Palestine held its hearings, while the truce was being established and the city divided," he said. "At the time of his assassination, in 1948, Count Bernadotte, head of the UN Commission, was living and working there, and his body lay in state in the Board Room before being returned to his homeland."

The 152 foot tall Jesus Tower of the building, called by many "the most beautiful YMCA in the world," is annually visited by thousands of tourists for its excellent view of the entire city and the beauty of its architecture, that symbolizes the three great monotheistic faiths which regard Jerusalem as a holy city. "Because of its height and strategic location, it might have been used for military purposes on numerous occasions," Stewart said. "Instead, it has always been respected by both sides as non-involved property. Whenever trouble erupted along the no-man's land which separated Jordan from Israel (as it has dozens of times in the last 20 years) the entrance to the tower was immediately sealed off, and the tower has never been intentionally fired on, nor fired from."

Chiseled on the gallery wall at the top of the tower, which has quotations from the Old Testament, the New Testament and the Koran, is this inscription from Isaiah: "Thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation."

"That symbolizes one the major objectives of the YMCA in that strategic section of the world," said Stewart. "Our hope is that we may continue to work toward that end in the months ahead."

Saved From Drowning

SYLVAN BEACH, N.Y. (AP)—Two persons were saved from drowning on Oneida Lake Saturday night. State Police say, by a man who had used swimming to develop muscles weakened by polio as a youth.

Rescued were Ernest J. Swald, 53, of Utica, and Jane McHale, 34, of Whitesboro, who were dumped into the lake when their boat capsized.

State Police said Kenneth Hatter, 27, of Sylvan Beach, dived into the water and pulled the McHale woman back to his own fishing boat. He found Swald clinging to the vessel in an air-pocket underwater near the bow.

Hatter said he had swum up to six miles almost daily to develop leg and back muscles weakened by polio.

The rescued couple was treated at Oneida City Hospital and discharged.

Spurrier Has Many Problems In East Win

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Steve Spurrier, darling of thousands of football fans during a fantastic career at Florida, already has found out his college clipplings don't mean much anymore.

The 1966 Heisman Trophy winner, headed for what is expected to be a successful pro career with the San Francisco 49ers, got his first taste of criticism Saturday night in the seventh annual Coaches All-America game.

Spurrier was the target of a barrage of boos for the first time in his life when he missed seven of his first eight passes for the East and had one of his tosses intercepted.

However, the poised quarterback shrugged off the catcalls and embraced his critics among the 19,145 fans by passing the East to a 12-9 victory with a 40-yard touchdown throw with three minutes left.

Noted during his Florida career for come-from-behind performances, Spurrier said, "I never gave up. We were just a touchdown from winning all the way."

The winning toss by Spurrier went to Michigan State end Gene Washington, who leaped high for the pass and then raced into the end zone. Spurrier had tossed 13 yards to Tom Francisco of Virginia Tech on the previous play after Georgia's Lynn Hughes gave the East its winning opportunity by intercepting a pass.

Spurrier hit on only 3 of 14 passes for 60 yards, his worst showing ever, but still good enough to give the East a 4-3 edge in the all-star rivalry.

West quarterback Jon Britten of Arkansas, headed for the Miami Dolphins, was named the most valuable player after hitting on 21 of 40 tosses for 244 yards, and Spurrier was the first to say "Jon deserved the award, even if his team didn't win."

The East got its other points on a safety and a 29-yard field goal kicked by Bob Griese of Purdue, runnerup in the Heisman Trophy voting who hit on only one of five passes.

The West took a 6-0 lead when Mel Farr of UCLA capped a first quarter drive ignited by Britten's passes with a two-yard touchdown leap, and Larry Wacholtz of Nebraska kicked a 25-yard field goal for the losers' other points.

George Sholly of Logansport, Ind., was the first harness racing driver to guide standardbreds to $400,000 in purse winnings this year.

Victory Camp Wins Feature

MONTICELLO, New York — Al Burton had the winning touch in his hands Saturday night, giving one of his patented well-rated performances with Victory Camp to capture the featured $4,500 trot in 2:04.4.

Coming from the four post, Victory Camp edged into the lead just before the quarter and taking a short "breather" going down to the half, was in excellent condition to put away a pursuing field.

Late rushes by Peerless Yankee, driven by Jack Quinn, and Just Jamie, who started to make his bid over the last two furlongs, failed to nail Victory Camp as the seven year old gelding posted his fifth win in 16 outings this year.

The winner was highly regarded by the fans, returning $4.80, 3.60 and 2.60 across the board.

When Barton Hanover won the first race and Sunny Coast the second, the 3-2 daily double combination were worthy $101.40.

Feature Winner

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP) — La Simba took command at the quarter pole and pulled away to a two-length victory over Fabex in the $1,500 feature race Saturday at Finger Lakes Race Track.

Stubborn Quest was third. The winner returned $20.80, $7.00 and $4.00, touring the six furlongs in 1:14 over a sloppy track.

The attendance was 7,625 and the handle was $418,799. Attendance and pari-mutuel sales figures of 38,923 and $2,163,772 respectively this past week topped a previous high attendance and pari-mutuel sales of 37,984 and $1,989,009 set during the week of June 5, 1965.

ONE PRO TO ANOTHER — Kansas Jim Ryun is congratulated by Kipchoke Keino (R) after Ryun set a new world record in the 1,500 meters in the British-American track meet at Los Angeles. Keino ran second with 3:37.2 to Ryun's 3:35.6. (UPI Telephoto)

Grand Circuit Now At Buffalo Raceway

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Grand Circuit heads for the midway point Update this week as it travels to Buffalo Raceway. But races at other New York State harness tracks will siphon off some of the cream from the Buffalo races.

The Circuit started its Upstate swing two weeks ago at Saratoga Raceway and held its annual five-day excursion at Goshen last week. After two weeks at Buffalo, it moves to Vernon Downs and then Monticello Raceway.

Two of the top 3-year-old trotting colts—Dazzling Speed and Pay Dirt—are considered definite starters in the $25,000 Su Mac Lad Trot at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night. The Su Mac Lad is a prep race for next week's $150,000 Yonkers Futurity, the first leg of trotting's Triple Crown.

The Sen. J. J. Crawford Pace, with a purse of about $10,000, will draw many top-flight racing fillies to Monticello Raceway Saturday night. Among those eligible for Poplar Evahnda, Meadow Elva and Ember Hanover.

Vernon Downs has another of its early-closing events for 2-year-old trotters Tuesday night. This race will not clash too severely with Buffalo because most of the entries are colts while the Grand Circuit feature tonight is for juvenile trotting fillies.

Viv Hanover, driven by Stanley Dancer, and Fantasia Hanover, with Frank Ervin in the sulky, rate high in the field of 12 in the $16,920 Buffalo feature.

All the Grand Circuit races at Buffalo are part of the W. N. Reynolds Memorial Series and carry purses estimated from $12,500 to $24,000.

Tuesday's race is for 2-year-old pacing fillies, 3-year-old trotting colts meet Wednesday, 4-year-old trotters Friday and 3-year-old pacing colts Saturday. Three-year-old pacing fillies start out the following week.

Saratoga Raceway also has a race for 3-year-old pacing colts non Downs, $108,000; Roosevelt

U. S. Swimmers Set 8 Records

By CHARLES MCMURTRY

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — The greatest array of young U.S. swimmers ever to compete together broke eight world records and tied one and set two American records in other events in Santa Clara's International Invitational swim meet the past three days.

Three youngsters — Mark Spitz and Claudia Kolb of Santa Clara Swim Club and Debbie Meyer of Sacramento, Calif., each set two world marks.

Catie Ball of Jacksonville, Fla., set one and tied one, Pam Kruse of Pompano Beach, Fla., set the other.

Spitz, 17, also set a 2:07 flat American mark in the 200-meter butterfly Saturday.

Mike Gurton of Sacramento set another, 8:52.9 for 800 meters en route to victory in 16:47.9 in the 1,500-meter free-style.

Spitz thus set a record each day two different strokes.

On Friday he recovered the 400 meter freestyle he had lost on Tuesday with 4:08.8. Sunday he swam 100 yards butterfly in 56.3. The old records were 4:09.2 by Alain Mosconi of France and 57 flat by Luis Nicolao of Argentina.

Miss Meyer, a 14-year-old who sews all of her own clothes, set two records in one race Sunday when AAU officials agreed to provide four timers for the finish of each.

Debbie swam 800 meters free-style in 9:35.8 while winning the 1,500 in 18:11.1 that broke the 8:36.0 set by Sharon Finerman of Santa Clara in 1964 and the 18:12.9 by Patty Caretto, Los Angeles, AC, in 1966.

Miss Ball, 17, swam 200 meters breaststroke Sunday in 2:40.5 to beat the 2:40.8 by Russia's Galina Prozumenshikova.

On Saturday Catie had tied the 1:15.7 record for 100 meters breaststroke in a qualifying heat before she won the finals in 1:16.6.

Miss Kruse set her record in the 400 freestyle at 4:36.4. Miss Kolb's world marks are 2:27.5 in the 200 individual medley and 4:11.7 in the 400 medley.

Kaat And Boswell: Good Hitting Pitchers

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Kaat and Dave Boswell, who started catching up with American League hitters a month ago, are holding their own against the pitchers too.

The Minnesota Twins drubbed Chicago's American League leaders 7-4 and 5-1 Sunday as winning pitchers Kaat and Boswell stroked two hits apiece and delivered three key runs between them.

Kaat singled to start a two-run rally in the fifth inning of the opener and slammed a two-run homer in the sixth while rolling to his seventh victory in eight decisions since June 10.

Boswell drilled two singles and drove in the go-ahead run in the fourth inning of the nightcap on the way to his third straight triumph and fifth in the last month.

The doubleheader sweep left the third-place Twins 2½ games behind the White Sox and one-half length back of Detroit going into the All-Star break.

The Tigers bombed Boston 10-4 for their seventh straight victory before bowing 3-0 to the Red Sox in the second game of a doubleheader.

California downed Kansas City 4-2, Washington swept Cleveland 8-5 and 4-2, and Baltimore beat New York 2-1 after losing 3-1 in the completion of Saturday night's suspended game.

Kaat, who was 1-7 when Cal Ermer replaced Sam Mele as the Twins' manager a month ago squared his record at 8-8 in the opener at Chicago. The Twins, beaten 2-1 and 1-0 in the first two games of the four-game series, rebounded with a 14-hit attack that pinned 10-game winner Joe Horlen with only his second loss — both to Minnesota.

Boswell, who didn't win his first game until May 21 and was 3-3 when the Twins changed pilots, scattered seven hits before giving way to Al Worthington with one out in the ninth. The young right-hander, who reeled off eight straight victories last summer for a 12-5 mark before being sidelined in August with arm trouble, boosted his 1967 record to 7-5.

Two Hot Pitchers

He and Kaat have clicked for 11 of the Twins' 20 victories since Ermer took over and are 6-0 between them during the club's current string of 10 victories in 12 games.

Pitcher Earl Wilson got into the swing of things at Detroit, pounding a home run while breezing to his 10th victory in the Tigers' first game romp over Boston. Dick McAuliffe also homered for the Tigers and Jim Northrup drilled a two-run single to cap a decisive four-run burst in the third inning.

The Red Sox ended a five-game losing streak in the nightcap as Jim Lonborg and John Wyatt collaborated on a four-hitter. Reggie Smith's two-run homer and a bases-empty blast

"I stopped smoking 13 days before the Women's Open," Mickey said. "It was a game mistake. It affected my game."

Miss Wright shot a 75 in the first round of the Open at Hot Springs, Va., the weekend before the Lady Carling and followed with an 80 before withdrawing because of a death in the family.

She smoked two cigarettes during the second round, but is now back on her usual quota of about nine for 18-holes.

Don Mincher belted a two-run homer, giving him 10 RBI in his last five games, as the Angels trimmed the A's for their sixth straight victory. Run-scoring singles by Bob Rodgers and pinch hitter Bubba Morton completed the California attack.

George Brunet gained his seventh victory in 18 decisions, with a ninth inning assist from relief ace Minnie Rojas.

Frank Howard's 23rd and 24th homers and a three-run shot by Ken McMillen powered the Senators to their victory in the opener at Cleveland. Fred Valentine won the nightcap with a two-run clout in the eighth after Bernie Allen and Dick Nen hit solo homers for the Senators.

Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles and pinch hitter Vic Roznovsky delivered the winning run with a seventh inning single, enabling southpaw Pete Richert, to defeat New York's Mel Stottlemyre.

A two-run single by John Kennedy in the ninth proved the winning margin for the Yankees in the completion of Saturday night's game, which was scoreless in the seventh inning when an 11:59 curfew forced its suspension.

There are a lot of good cars you can get for $3400. This is two of them.

If you don't happen to need two cars, there's only one thing that you need less. One car that costs as much as two cars.

Unless you want to pay a lot of money for a lot of horsepower that you'll never use. There's only one state in the country where you can go faster than a Volkswagen—Nevada. (No speed limit—they're big gamblers out there.)

The only extra horsepower you really need is for all those power gadgets. Which you need to drive a car that size. Which has to be that size to hold all those horses.

All of which also makes the average car cost almost as much to run as two Volkswagens. Considering a VW gets about 27 miles to a gallon of gas and about 40,000 miles to a set of tires.

But if you're still not sold on the idea of two bugs for the price of one beast, why not take advantage of this special introductory offer: one Volkswagen for half the price of two.

Schovel Tree kept on the heels of the league leading Lions Club by nipping Elmer's Inn, 3-1, in the first game of a City Baseball League double-header Sunday at Dietz Stadium.

In the second contest, Kingston All-Stars walloped Herzog Construction, 6-2.

Ken Heppner of Schovel's and Bob Speirs of Elmer's hooked up in a splendid duel in the opener. The losers scored in the second inning on two walks and a hit by Tom Williams.

In the third, Dave Horton reached first on a two-out error, went to second on a passed ball, stole third and tallied on a wild pitch to knot the count.

Before the frame had ended, the winners put another run on the scoreboard as Paul Gianuzzi walked, moved up bases on wild pitches and scored on a error.

Another error gave the winners their final run in the fifth. The contest was called at the end of the inning because of an 8:30 curfew.

Four Run Inning
The All-Stars scored four times in the third inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and defeat Herzog's.

A walk to Joe Schabot and Jack Schatzel's single began the uprising. An error allowed one run to score and walks to John Berardi and Charlie James loaded the sacks. Loser Pete Helmich then uncoiled a couple of wild pitches and a passed ball was also thrown in, giving the winners their four run frame.

James was the winner. He walked nine and fanned seven while allowing three hits. Helmich and relief chucker Pete Petrilli gave up only two safeties.

The second game was halted after the fifth inning because of the 11 o'clock curfew.

Tonight's game is a head-liner matching Schovel's Tree and the Lions Club at 8:15. On Tuesday, Elmer's Inn will oppose the All-Stars. Elmer's and Herzog's will meet on Friday.

The Terrible Week Ends for the Cubs

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

It was sudden death for just about everybody in the National League except the Chicago Cubs, who are dying slowly.

Leo Durocher's Cubs, who had soared into the National League lead just one week ago, dropped their seventh straight game Sunday losing a three-hitter to Houston's Don Wilson, 6-0.

It completed a terrible week for the Cubs, who clung to second place despite their losing streak. Chicago trails first place

St. Louis by 3½ games.

The Cardinals died suddenly Sunday, bowing 4-3 to Philadelphia on Tony Gonzalez' pinch home in the 10th inning. Willie Mays' 10th inning single drove in San Francisco's only run as the Giants nipped the Dodgers

1-0 on Mike McCormick's five-hitter.

Willie Stargell potted a tremendous leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth, giving Pittsburgh a 2-1 decision over

Cincinnati. Jerry Buchek's two-out pinch homer tied the game for New York and then the Mets pushed over another ninth inning run, nipping Atlanta 5-4.

Wilson's victory was the big right-hander's first since he hurled a no-hitter three weeks ago. The triumph squared his record at 5-5.

Jackie Brandt drove in three runs with three hits for the

Astros and Jim Wynn upped his major league-leading runs batting in total to 65 with a two-run single.

Larry Jaster was working on a two-hitter and leading Philadelphia 3-1 in the eighth inning

when Mike Shannon booted Billy

Cowan's bouncer. Red Schoen-dienst yanked Jaster and Rich

Allen tagged reliever Nelson

Briles' first pitch for a 430-foot homer that tied the score.

Q "I am 29 years old. My salary is more than sufficient for living expenses and large enough for an investment program. I started in with American Telephone and Sun Oil, $2,000 Series E bonds, life insurance and cash to see me through an emergency. I have $5,000 to invest. I would like your advice on Sun Oil, savings bonds and how to invest my $5,000. I want as much as possible, without worry about risk." B.B.

A) You have made an excellent start, in my opinion. When you buy any stocks, you must understand that you are taking a risk—at the very least the possibility of price fluctuation. With that clearly understood, I believe you should hold Sun Oil, a strong company with the habit of paying regular stock dividends. Your Series E bonds are secure and liquid reserves and I would retain them. With your $5,000 I suggest that you buy Bristol-Myers, a consumer stock with a powerful growth pattern.

Planes, Men Sent to Aid In Congo Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has sent three big U.S. military transport planes and about 70 men to the Congo to support the central government's fight against a threat by mercenaries.

President Joseph Mobutu asked for U.S. help. The mercenaries reportedly are committed to former Premier Moise Tshombe.

Johnson's decision was disclosed Sunday by the State Department, which said the planes will provide long-range logistic support for the Congolese government "in meeting the mercenary-led rebellion." The department said the planes will be in a noncombatant status.

The four-engine C-130 planes normally carry crews of four or five men but left with a total of 60 to 70 men. The Pentagon said the extra personnel include mechanics and a platoon of paratroopers to act as plane guards.

Rocky Claims State Ahead on Waters Cleanup

The State of New York has completed, ahead of schedule, the first step in qualifying for increased federal funds for pure water projects under the Federal Clean Waters Restoration Act of 1966, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today.

The act authorized increased financial aid for the construction of sewage treatment facilities to 40 per cent of the eligible cost of all projects for which Federal grants are given in each fiscal year. New York State already has such a program and thus is automatically eligible for 40 per cent commencing in July, 1967.

Massive Survey
To qualify for the increase, the New York State Health Department submitted a massive eight-volume report classifying the water quality standards for interstate waters. The report, prepared under the direction of Dwight P. Metzler, deputy commissioner for Environmental Health Services, covers the following: Coastal waters, Hudson River, Delaware River, Susquehanna River, Allegheny River, Erie-Niagara; Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River Basins. Upon the approval of the standards by the Department of the Interior, the State becomes eligible for an extra 10 per cent increase from 40 to 50 per cent of Federal funds.

If the Congress appropriates the funds authorized under this measure for the next four years, the State of New York will receive nearly one-third of a billion dollars. Under the formula set forth in the authorization bill the New York State share by fiscal year should be: 1968, $3,588,750; 1969, $60,670,250; 1970, $88,368,050 and 1971, $111,449,500.

See Only 4 P.
Governor Rockefeller cautioned, however, that as Federal appropriations now stand, Federal monies actually to be made available for New York State for the forthcoming fiscal year amount to some $14 million.

This is anticipated to be only four per cent of the eligible project costs," Governor Rockefeller said, "with our own State legislation providing for 56 per cent of the total costs." "It is of interest," Governor Rockefeller added, "that in the nine months the State has been executing contracts under State legislation passed in 1965, we have obligated more State funds than the Federal government's $45 million obligated over the past ten years for the State of New York projects."

Koreans Convene
SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean National Assembly convened today amid noisy demonstrations against the June 8 elections that decided the makeup of the 175-man body. About 4,000 riot police kept the protesters away from the assembly hall.

President Chung Hee Park has said that election irregularities by his ruling party were confined to a limited number of districts. He has purged eight lawmakers elected to the assembly from his own Democratic Republican party in connection with the rigging.

Financial and Commercial

By ED MORSE

AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced in heavy trading early Monday.

Gains topped losses by better than 2 to 1.

Most changes were fractional. Higher-priced glamor stocks, as usual, made wider moves.

Polaroid gained 3, Xerox 2 1/2, Eastern Air Lines 2, Control Data and IBM 1 each.

Steels, airlines, and aerospace issues were higher, autos and oils mixed.

The industrial average was about 2 points.

American Telephone, battered because of an adverse rate decision last week, did not open immediately.

The ticker tape ran three minutes late on the New York Stock Exchange and 12 minutes late on the American Stock Exchange.

Encouraging factors seen by Wall Street analysts included: Brighter prospects for the steel business; the June rise in employment; and the ability of the Dow Jones rail average to make a new recovery high last week.

On Friday The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.9 to 327.2.

Broome City Is Population Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Binghamton, N. Y., will be a leader in population growth in the middle Atlantic region during the next eight years, the National Planning Association predicted Sunday.

The association's center for economic projections predicted a 2.3 per cent population increase for Binghamton.

Cities in the United States will continue to drain population from the rural areas during the next eight years, but at a slower rate than before, the association said in its monthly report.

Employment and income in the cities will speed up their growth. The report said that some 73 per cent—164 million people would be concentrated in 224 metropolitan areas by 1975. Sixty per cent of this group will be in the 25 largest centers, ranging from an expected 17-million-plus in New York—northeast New Jersey to an estimated 1-271,000 in the New Orleans area.

U. S. Plane Losses 1,460 In Viet War

SAIGON ((AP) — The States has lost 1,460 planes over North and South Vietnam so far during the war, U.S. Command reported today.

Of these, 602 were bombers and other combat planes lost to enemy action while flying missions over North Vietnam, and 191 went down in combat over South Vietnam.

The remaining 667 planes were combat planes which went down because of mechanical troubles and accidents, and supporting noncombat planes such as transports and cargo planes which went down from either enemy action or nonhostile causes.

Announced helicopter losses in combat totaled 339.

Children's Crusade
In 1212, an army of 30,000 boys and girls, most of them less than 12 years old, set forth to free the Holy Land. The children's crusade was led by a French shepherd lad named Stephen. Many of the children died en route.

SEATO Exercise
MANILA (AP) — A 30-ship fleet including aircraft carriers, destroyers, oilers, submarines and patrol craft steamed toward the South China Sea today in a six-nation exercise for the Southeast Asia treaty Organization.

Operation Sea Dog brought together craft from the Philippines, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, the United States and Britain. The other SEATO members, France and Pakistan, are not participating.

The operation's purpose is to test SEATO's ability to deliver a convoy of reinforcements and supplies to the Thai capital, Bangkok, under wartime conditions.

False Report Started War, Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House refuses to comment on a report President Johnson was aware of how the Soviet Union allegedly ignited the Israeli-Arab war with faked intelligence reports that backed-fired.

The magazine U.S. News & World Report said Sunday in a copyrighted article.

"The Soviet government, to further its purposes, faked intelligence reports—supplying these reports to the governments of Egypt and Syria—that Israel was massing troops to attack Syria."

"The Soviet purpose, these sources say, was political and somewhat limited. Russia hoped to create a crisis atmosphere that would unite the Arab nations, cause them to stop their squabbling and work together more closely."

"The goal was not war against Israel by the Arabs."

The magazine said the move backfired when Egypt ordered a blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba and, with Syria, "either believed the faked intelligence reports or wanted to believe them."

"This whole sequence of events was said to have been known to President Johnson in Washington as it developed. Knowing what had happened, those on the inside say, President Johnson was able to play it cautiously, confident that developments would not bring Russia into full-scale Middle East war on the side of the Arabs."

Need Technicians
And the problems: A shortage of labor, rising wages, increasingly complex assignments that require technical knowledge.

And the result: Many of the tiny companies founded during the past 20 or 30 years are now selling out to bigger businesses which can better handle the problems.

Five years ago, said a spokesman for the industry's national association, there weren't more than six or seven owners of more than 50 switchboards—with an average of 80 customers on each board.

"Just five years ago," the spokesman continued, "a large business consisted of about 4,000 or 5,000 clients. A large business today might have 10,000 customers."

Business Mirror Reflections Answering Services Feel Pains From Fast Growth

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — With billions and billions of telephone calls handled for millions of clients during the past 40 years, the telephone answering industry is now feeling some of the problems of bigness.

"We have moved out of the bedroom," said one proprietor referring to the spare room origins of most of the companies.

Most agencies, in fact, have moved right out of the house to downtown offices.

To document its growth, the industry offers these statistics: $150 million of business a year by 34,000 agencies owned by 3-600 individuals who process a billion calls for 500,000 customers.

Variety of Customers
And the late-sleeping bachelor with money to spare subscribes to an answering service so as to be awakened in the morning.

Two users have given considerable trouble: the bookie and the call girl.

Gradually the work of the services is becoming complex. Jammed elevators now signal answering services which then contact the repair man. Devices in greenhouses ring the service when temperatures get too low.

The major part of the work, however, continues to be the receiving and relaying of messages, for which the service usually collects between $15 and $30 a month, the higher figure being for 24-hour vigilance.

Private homes also have become big users.

If the society matron's phone is not picked up after four rings, as per her agreement with the answering service, it is assumed she is out attending to her charities and clubs. The service takes the message and relays it to her.

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Open up communication lines. Analyze statements, actions—and motives. Some may be trying to "use" you. Realize this, keep guard up. Change indicated. Opposite sex involved.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Get to heart of things. Don't be satisfied with superficial indication. Applies especially to important purchases, sales. Study property, real estate proposals. Make necessary adjustments.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): News concerning relatives may be connected with change of issues. Avoid tendency to scatter forces. Concentrate on task at hand. Good news climaxes day.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Support gained from those in authority. Your position is strengthened. Applies especially where finances are concerned. Drive a fair but hard bargain. Get money's worth.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): What appears an obstacle may lack real substance. Which is responsibility? Which is not rightly your own. Take a stand. But be sure it is based on logic, not impulse.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Educate yourself on problems of one who recently underwent emotional setback. Obtain fresh viewpoint. Help others to help themselves. Be generous but not foolish. Think.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A day to give your all. Display enthusiasm. No halfway measures—all the way or nothing. Accent on friendship, creative endeavors. Discard advice of one who advocates extravagance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You tend to see persons, situations through rose-colored glasses. Key is to get back to reality. Stress on practical affairs, including career. Accept special assignments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): News from afar could help allay fears. You feel a renewed surge of confidence. Base actions on knowledge. Gain through written word. Fine for advertising, publishing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Not wise today to mix business and friendship. Some who are enthusiastic may not be fully informed. Sentiment could cost you money. Separate fact from fancy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Consult close associate, mate or partner before committing yourself. Could affect residence, domestic situation. Know that those who love you have a right to be heard. Open up.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Realize value of pacing, timing. Tendency exists to go too fast today. Slow down. Study various propositions. Time is on your side. One who rushes you may have ulterior motive.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are sensitive, have ideas of your own, should excel at original research. You have ability to make subjects clear to laymen. Would make fine teacher.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Leo, Virgo, Libra. Special word to Aries; if analytical you arrive at truth.

Astaire Slated For Return in Warner Feature

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —

"Thank heaven," said the ageless Fred Astaire, "I don't have any of those romantic numbers to do. I've done so many of them, and they're terribly hard work."

The century's most celebrated dancer was slumped in a chair in his dressing room at Warner Bros. "First time ever worked here, although I knew Jack Warner before I knew any other studio boss." He was awaiting a call to the studio's "jungle" outdoor set, where he was to appear in a brief longshot for "Finian's Rainbow."

Astaire is a sensitive, even touchy man, and the interviewer learns to skirt certain areas. For instance, he is bored by references to his age, which happens to be 67. He is oblivious to the passage of time and couldn't tell you that it had been 11 years since he filmed his last screen musical, "Silk Stockings."

He has done three straight roles, in "On the Beach," "Nocturnal Landlord," "The Pleasure of His Company."

Nor does Astaire talk about his dance partners, who have included Rita Hayworth, Vera Ellen, Judy Garland, Leslie Caron, Audrey Hepburn and Cyd Charisse, as well as Ginger Rogers. "Finian's Rainbow" is the first musical in which he does not dance with a glamorous partner.

"It's such a relief," he sighed, while avoiding any aspersion against his famed partners. "Those romantic dances take so long to rehearse, and it's murder trying to devise new ideas."

He has long refused to repeat numbers.

Theater Success

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) —

The Morris A. Mechanic Theatre has grossed more than $1.2 million since it opened in January. The $1.2-million modernistic playhouse in the Charles Center, a downtown redevelopment area, has entertained more than 230,000 patrons, averaging 1,200 a show for the past 24 weeks. Managing Director Thomas F. Fox said business was so brisk the 1,804-seat theater was booking shows for next spring and beyond.

Quell Minor Fires

Fire units in four communities responded to weekend calls for minor fires. A dispatcher at the county fire control center said Marlboro firemen extinguished fire in a power mower on Saturday. Ulster Hose Co. checked a brush fire, New Paltz firemen quelled a rubbish blaze on Sunday, and Port Ewen units were called out today for a dump fire.

'Minor Committee' Called Vital to Doctors, Patients

A little known arm of the Ulster County Medical Society, the Comita Minora or minor committee, serves area doctors and patients through its activities.

Called a monitoring pulse for the local medical society, the unit through its regular meetings, serves as a platform for vital dialogue between physicians and their patients. It also serves to maintain the highest standards for all members of the society and takes whatever action may be required should these standards be in danger.

Another function is to keep the full membership up to date on the latest developments in medicine by seeing that information concerning seminars, symposiums, and meetings is made available.

All matters which come to the attention and require action of the medical society are discussed and reviewed. Subjects may range from a recommendation on the local tuberculosis hospital to a question or complaint of a medical patient.

Currently serving on the committee are Dr. Francis LoGalbo, president of the society; Dr. Frederic Holcomb, secretary; Dr. Lewis Neporent, treasurer and Dr. John Alley, vice president, plus five "censors" or members.

Officers of the society who are elected for two-year terms serve by virtue of their office. The other members are chosen annually.

The Comita Minora acts as an executive board, acting directly on some matters and referring others to the attention of the full society at one of the five dinner meetings.

Military Space Capability Builds

EDITORS NOTE:

An American and a Soviet spacecraft today are journeying toward Venus, the latest episode in the rivalry that began with the first Sputnik nearly a decade ago.

The Venus voyages are research missions in scientific exploration. But aside from the scientific rivalry, there always has been the question of military competition in space.

How far this other sort of rivalry had advanced is brought out in an unusually interesting, fact-filled series by AP's senior aerospace writer, Howard Benedict. He spent weeks in gathering the material, much of it published for the first time.

Here is the first article in Benedict's four-part series on the subject.

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Returning to its moon base from patrol, a U.S. Air Force space ship suddenly is attacked by a craft from an earth nation.

Skilfully maneuvering at more than 5,000 miles an hour, the American spaceman zip in behind the attacker and open fire with a weapon that converts nuclear energy into a powerful beam. The "death ray" vaporizes the enemy ship.

The United States is not ready to fight such a Buck Rogers style war in space. But quietly, secretly, this nation is developing a military space capability to counter a strong Soviet program.

Recent technological advances by both nations—and the growing nuclear threat of Red China—have spurred the United States to accelerate its military space effort, in both manned and unmanned programs.

After years of indecision, the Air Force last month awarded the first sizable contracts, totaling $855 million, for the Manned Orbiting Laboratory. The goal is to determine what military duties man can perform effectively in space.

The first flight of military astronauts is set for 1970, nearly three years behind the original schedule.

The Defense Department, after years of pressure from critics, appears ready to proceed with some sort of antiballistic missile program.

Much effort is concentrated on developing fantastic weapons and other military equipment.

Among them are reconnaissance satellites that will spot a soldier hiding in underbrush or a missile buried underground; satellites to locate submerged submarines; communications satellites that will enable infantrymen in the field to confer on strategy; and far-ranging planes to exchange messages.

Rockets to knock down enemy satellites; laser and radiation beams to pulverize space or ground targets; rocket-born nuclear bombs to destroy missile warheads; rockets with great power and versatility, and manned spaceships that will take off and land like conventional airplanes.

Sources cite five major reasons for the stepped up military space research:

—Knowledge that the Soviet Union is vigorously pushing for a military space capability.

—Titan 2 and Minuteman missiles in underground silos are threatened by a new warhead guidance system 10 times more accurate than any previous system. It would enable an intercontinental-range missile to hurl its nuclear payload to within 600 feet of a target.

—Polaris missiles deployed at sea are threatened by new satellite reconnaissance devices that may soon be able to locate submarines hundreds of feet beneath the surface.

—U.S. missiles designed to penetrate Soviet defense are threatened by a potential Soviet capability to neutralize them by exploding nuclear bombs in their paths.

Last month the Soviet civil defense chief, Marshal Vasily I. Chuikov, claimed in Moscow that his country's antiballistic missile defense system could destroy nuclear-armed missiles before they reached Soviet territory. Only three months ago, in February, he had said the Soviet Union was not completely safe from missile attack.

The world strategic equation has been changed sharply by Red Chinese achievements in nuclear explosives and by steadily decreasing costs which will permit other nations to deploy missile forces.

Defense Department sources say they are aware of these dangers but that security prevents them from reporting what is being done to counter them.

Many critics of the Defense Department and Johnson administration contend the United States is not moving fast enough to take advantage of the technological momentum built up during the ballistic missile and space programs.

They say the U.S. now longer can rely on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's theory that war can be avoided by "mutual deterrence." The theory is that an enemy will not attack if enough U.S. offensive forces can survive to launch a counterattack sufficient to destroy the enemy.

One of these critics is retired Air Force Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, who directed development of America's ballistic missile programs and played a key role in the approval of the Manned Orbiting Laboratory program.

Schriever says "the administration is not pushing technology." He says $400 million to $700 million more should have been spent annually on advanced development in the last four or five years. He opposes the separation of space activities into military and peaceful spheres, contending it "simply serves to emphasize by comparison, the straightforwardness of the Soviet program."

At its annual convention in March, the Air Force Association called for "a sweeping re-examination and re-evaluation of national strategy in the light of current and projected technology and its impact on the world balance of power." Association officials noted what they called the "growing vulnerability" of U.S. missiles and expressed concern on how secure they would be in five years.

They said America was severely handicapped by the limited nuclear test-ban treaty and by the lack of basic knowledge about using nuclear bombs as a shield against ballistic missiles.

Most critics believe the Defense Department should be spending more effort, money and research on developing the soundest possible missile defense system.

Stating the administration position John S. Foster Jr., director of defense research and engineering, said the United States had not reached a "technological plateau."

"Our capabilities in this area have been changed dramatically in the last 10 years. How can we be stagnating technological-while we devote more than half a billion dollars to it in one year?"

He said the department's expenditures for research and development had increased about 30 per cent in the last decade and the budget request for fiscal 1968 was $8.1 million for more than 1,500 projects.

Boy Electrocuted

MIDDLE RIVER, Md. (AP)—Douglas Alt was using an electric probe to search for fishing worms Sunday, when his son Douglas, 3, ran across the wet lawn of the family's suburban Baltimore home.

The boy grabbed the 24-inch steel probe and was electrocuted immediately, police said, as his father held the wooden handle of the device.

Catskill Museum Sets Walk Tour

The Mid Hudson-Catskills Museum will sponsor a nature walk Sunday, July 16. Norman Kellar, a museum trustee, will lead the walk, which will begin at 9 a. m. The Ashokan Firehouse will be the point of departure, and the group will proceed along the 20 mile Peekamoose Trail.

The tour will include both riding in one's car and stopping along the way to observe nature. The trip will include ice caves along the trail, and 100-foot waterfall to provide a background for the picnic lunch, which will mark the halfway point of the trip.

The group will then proceed through Grahamsville, and around the west side of the Lackawack Reservoir. The last stop will be at Hanging Rock Falls, in Ulster Heights, at approximately 3 p. m. Adults and children are welcome.
